d. Civil Affairs/Pacification

(1) Significant activities of the Civic Action Program were:

(a) During the month of September, 150 pounds of food was distributed to widows and orphans of casualties who were members of the 37th ARVN Artillery Battalion.

(b) A continuous MEDCAP Program was operated at Plei Mrong, in which indigenous personnel at that location made use of the A (--) 1/92d Aid Station. During the month of August, 35 patients were treated, 141 patients were treated in September, and 71 in October.

(c) The Battalion Aid Station at Artillery Hill treated 92 indigenous personnel during the reporting period.

(d) During the reporting period the Battalion Surgeon made weekly MEDCAP visits to the Montagnard Military Academy in Pleiku City. He treated an average of 200 personnel each month.

(e) The Aid Station at Plei Mrong requested six medevacs during the period for indigenous personnel who were injured or sick.

(2) Significant activities of the Artillery Assistance Program were:

(a) On 13 August, A (--) 1/92 conducted service practice for the VNSF at the Plei Mrong CIDG Camp. The service practice was conducted using the platoon of 105mm Howitzers of the CIDG at the Camp. FDC and firing battery personnel observed the exercise and made corrections where necessary. Prior to the service practice, a class on boresighting was given to the CIDG Personnel.

(b) 18 August, Captain Guidry, Co, A 1/92, inspected the ammunition storage of the CIDG Artillery at Plei Mrong. He reported that the CIDG personnel had been following previous instructions and had made substantial improvements. Two hundred square feet of plastic was given to the CIDG 105mm Howitzer Platoon to help keep their powder storage area dry.
(c) During the week of 2 - 9 October the following types and quantities of 105 M4 ammunition were procured and delivered to the 63d ARVN Ranger Battalion at Plei Mrong: 100 rounds of HE, 20 rounds ILL, 20 rounds SMK, and 10 rounds WP. In addition, an Artillery Assistance Team gave classes on fire direction and firing battery procedures. They also conducted a service practice for the ARVN Rangers to illustrate the effectiveness and proficiency of the personnel. Firing battery safety was stressed, and recommendations were made to have a sectioned firing platform made. The platoon built the platform the following day.

(d) The Battalion Survey Section is currently training three ARVN officers from the 222d ARVN Artillery Battalion. They will be instructed in the procedures, techniques, and computations necessary to perform a valid survey. When the officers return to their unit they will be qualified survey officers.

(e) Personnel:

(1) The battalion strength at the end of the reporting period was 106.5% of the total authorized. Officer strength was 94.3% of the authorized strength. The battalion was short four lieutenants and two warrant officers.

(2) Key personnel changes during the reporting period:

(a) MAJ Claude H. Warren assumed the duties of Battalion Executive Officer on 30 August 1970 from MAJ Jose A. Riovo Jr who was reassigned as S-4 52d Arty Group.

(b) CPT Thomas J. Fonck assumed duties of S-2 on 20 September 1970. LT Ames, previous S-2, departed on 17 August 1970 for ETS, Oakland California.

(c) CPT Clinton J. Black assumed the duties of Communications Officer on 16 October 1970.

(d) CPT Clyde L. Jonas assumed the duties of Motor Officer on 6 October 1970.

(e) CPT James V. Ritsch assumed command of HHE on 20 September 1970 from CPT Gerald Krause who departed for Germany.

(f) CPT James Harris Jr assumed command of SVC Battery on 23 September 1970 from CPT George Overtton who departed for an assignment in Germany.

(g) LT Daniel S Konzen was assigned as Ammunition Officer on 10 October 1970.

(h) LT DeWitte T. Thompson was reassigned as Unit Property Book Officer on September 1970 from A Battery.
2. (C) Lessons Learned: Commander's Observations, Evaluations, and Recommendations:

   a. Personnel: None

   b. Intelligence: None

   c. Operations:

      (1) Use of Dead-Men (Logs or Timbers)

      (a) Observation: While on an operation in support of the 4th Infantry Division, a platoon of 155mm towed howitzers was airlifted to LZ Powder in Binh Dinh Province. The positions prepared for these howitzers were cut into the side of the hill, resulting in one half of the howitzer position being on solid ground while the other half was on semi-hard fill. One evening while firing near maximum range with maximum charge, this semi-hard fill, loosened by daily rains, failed to hold the trails, thus causing rearward movement of the howitzers while being fired.

      (b) Evaluation: A field expedient means of installing dead-men needs to be employed when a lack of proper material exists. The best type of dead-men require heavy timbers embedded in the ground to hold the trails in place.

      (c) Recommendation: When howitzers are emplaced on filled ground, dead-men (logs or timbers) must be installed as soon as time permits throughout the 6400 mil capability of the weapon. When timbers are not available, powder canisters can be buried upright in the ground, side-by-side and filled with dirt. These canisters must be dug in deep enough to insure that at least one half of each canister is embedded in solid ground. When this is done and the spades are dug in prior to firing, the canister dead-men will hold the weapon in place. As soon as possible, heavy timbers should be placed in front of the canisters. With the canisters and timbers in position, uninterrupted firing can be accomplished.

SUBJECT: Operational Report—Lessons Learned, 1st Battalion, 92d Artillery, Period Ending 31 October 1970 RCS CSFOR-65 (R2) (U)

(2) Use of Tracers.

(a) Observation: It has been observed that on numerous occasions individuals fire all their ammunition from magazines without knowing that they have done so.

(b) Evaluation: This situation may arise during contact, with the individual attempting to engage another target with an empty weapon.

(c) Recommendation: In order to prevent this situation, the first two rounds of ammunition which are loaded into the rifle magazine should be tracers. In the firing sequence the two tracers would be fired last.
   When the individual observes the tracers, he knows immediately to reload.
   In this way the soldier will not engage a target with an empty or nearly empty rifle.

   d. Organization: None

   e. Training: None

   f. Logistics: None

   g. Communications:

   (1) Internal Corrosion Prevention on Telephone, TA 312/PT

   (a) Observation: TA 312/PT developed moisture internally, resulting in corrosion of wiring and connectors. Equipment reliability suffered as a result. Desiccant bags were placed inside the case near the hand generator and the case resealed. The telephone under test was then used as a back-up to an unmodified telephone. The two were compared as to reliability and evidence of corrosion over a period of several months. The desiccant was changed on a monthly basis.

       (b) Evaluation: The TA 312/PT reliability of the modified set showed a definite improvement with little or no detectable corrosion on the internal components over an extended period of several months. During the same period the unmodified set in similar conditions suffered from considerable corrosion that inhibited performance and required cleaning several times. The desiccant used was of a type readily available to artillery units. It came from discarded freezer containers. However, some small difficulty with deterioration of paper desiccant bags was experienced if they are not changed regularly.

SUBJECT: Operational Report-Lessons Learned, 1st Battalion, 92d Artillery, Period Ending 31 October 1970, RCS CSFOR-65 (R2) (U)

(c) Recommendation: That a standardized dessicant package of more durable material be used. Perhaps a ventilated plastic case for the present bag would do. Also a standardized location within the telephone and a recommended time period for changing the dessicant should be determined under controlled conditions.

2. Reference paragraph 2 (c) (f). The commanders' comment concerning installing deadmen appears to be a good recommendation. This headquarters has stressed the importance of turning in of ammunition components to include cannisters. The cannisters utilized in this situation must be recovered and turned in as required by instructions from this headquarters.

SUBJECT: Operational Report-Lessons Learned, 1st Battalion, 92d Artillery, Period Ending 31 October 1970, RCS CSFOR-65 (R2) (U)

Headquarters, United States Army Vietnam, APO San Francisco 96375

TO: Commander in Chief, United States Army Pacific, ATTN: GPOP-DT, APO 96558

1. This Headquarters has reviewed the Operational Report-Lessons Learned for the quarterly period ending 31 October 1970 from Headquarters, 1st Battalion, 92d Artillery and comments of indorsing headquarters.

2. Reference item concerning "Internal Corrosion Prevention on Telephone, TA 312/PT," page 12, paragraph 2g(1). Although the idea of placing dessicant in the TA 312/PT appears to have some merit, there still remains the possibility of the dessicant bag becoming lodged beneath the contacts of the hook switch or otherwise creating an interference with mechanical devices inside the case. This problem with the TA 312/PT, apparently, has never been addressed before, therefore, it has been referred to the United States Army Electronic Command (ECOM) Area Office for further investigation and evaluation.
