Title: A Description and Evaluation of the Army Communicative Skills Program

Author: Linda Baker

Summary:

The Army Communicative Skills Program is a recent effort by the Army to improve the writing, speaking, and reading effectiveness of all Army personnel. This report describes the program, the writing standard it mandates, the programs of instruction it offers, and its precursor, the Army Writing Program. The report also evaluates the potential of the program and considers its relevance to the missions of the U.S. Army Research Institute.

Distribution Statement:

Approved for public release; Distribution Unlimited

DD Form 1473, JUN 86

(For security classification, see DD Form 1473, JUN 86.)
ARI Announcement 88-13

16. SUPPLEMENTARY NOTATION (continued)

Report available from U.S. Army Research Office, TCN 87-234.

5001 Eisenhower Ave.
Alexandria, Va. 22333-5600