NARCOTICS PROGRAMS STEPPED UP, HEROIN USE STILL WIDESPREAD

Rangoon LOKTHA PYEITHU NEZIN in Burmese 4 Oct 76 p 4 BK

[Editorial: "Toward Eradication of Narcotics"]

[Excerpts] Thanks to the effort of the squad from the Rangoon Division Crime Prevention Department, 5,500 kyats worth of 11 packets of a new variety of drug--heroin No. 6--which were smuggled in from Mergui, Tenasserim Division, was seized and the culprits arrested. The Heroin No. 6, which was seized for the first time in Burma, has a deep pink color. Although this drug is not as potent as the No. 4 variety, the threat it poses to users is the same. This was revealed by authorities concerned.

Burma is combatting drugs, including heroin, as a national movement--such as the formation of the Central Narcotics Control Board chaired by the minister for home affairs, and the formation of narcotic suppression teams in divisions, states and townships. These are in accordance with the resolution of the People's Assembly. Because of such action, a total of 1,500 viss [1 viss equals 3.60 pounds] of opium and 15 viss of heroin were seized in 1973. Similarly in 1974, over 2,700 viss of opium and 37 viss of heroin were seized. In 1975, also, almost the same amount of opium and heroin were seized in large quantities. Other efforts to curb narcotics are programs to substitute soporific plants, including opium, with other crops; blocking routes through which narcotics are smuggled into various regions; and systematic registration of addicts to give treatment and education, with assistance from the United Nations. Such efforts are succeeding year by year and the successes are recognized by the United Nations as well as other international organizations.

However, heroin and other drugs are still widespread in small as well as big cities. Such a situation must be taken as a national threat. It is important not to lose sight of the People's Assembly resolution and to continue to collectively suppress the threat as a national movement. We have to urge everyone to take the seizure of heroin No. 6 as an example, and to immediately inform the People's Police Force or regional organs of power whenever news of narcotics is received. In this way every region should strive to eradicate narcotic drugs.
ARMY RAIDS TWO JUNGLE OPIUM FACTORIES, BATTLES INSURGENTS

Rangoon Domestic Service in Burmese 1330 GMT 2 Oct 76 BK

[Text] Acting on information that insurgents secretly operate drug factories in the jungles of Shan State and transport opium and jade on mule and horseback for sale, the army has launched operations against these drug manufacturers and traffickers.

Acting on a tip-off that about 100 Palaung and Kia [Kachin Independence Army] insurgents manufactured drugs in (Namgin) and (Techin) villages in Namkham Township in the Northeast Burma Military Command Region, a company of the 22nd infantry regiment raided the villages on 18 September. The enemy lost five dead in the clashes, and the army captured one carbine and one M-16. One government soldier was killed. The army seized and destroyed near (Techin) village 16 barrels of liquid opium, some equipment and an opium factory.

On 20 September, after receiving information that about 300 armed Sua [Shan United Army] Lwemwe insurgents were moving in a caravan of over 150 mules and horses carrying opium and jade, the troops of the 77th Light Infantry Division surrounded and mopped up the insurgents, clashing near (Wansing) village east of (?Laikha) in the East Burma Military Command region. The enemy lost 15 dead. Three were captured along with eight weapons, 680 viss [1 viss equals 3.6 lbs] of raw opium, about 10 kilograms of heroin powder, 11 mules and horses and two radios. Five soldiers were killed and four wounded. The air force supported the army troops during the battle. Government troops are pursuing the Lwemwe insurgents.

CUSTOMS OFFICER JAILED FOR HEROIN POSSESSION

Kuala Lumpur NEW STRAITS TIMES in English 2 Jul 76 p 10

[Text] Johore Baru, Thursday--Customs officer Mohamed Hashim Wok, 25, was jailed for three years today and ordered to be given six strokes of the rotan for having over six grammes of heroin in his Jalan Larkin house.

The Sessions Court here found Mohamed Hashim of the Marine Customs guilty of committing the offence on April 22 at 11.50 a.m.

Two others jointly charged with him--Customs officer Abdul Malik Mahdi, 23, and labourer Mohamed Salleh bin Abdul Rahman, 23--were acquitted.

In acquitting the two, senior president Ahmad Fairuz bin Halim held that the prosecution had not proved that the heroin was in their custody.

Inspector Ibrahim Hashim, testifying, told the court that he led a police party to the house and saw the three accused.

He also found 134 small tubes containing a brownish substance which he suspected to be heroin. Mohamed Hashim dashed out of the house but was arrested, he said.

Mohamed Hashim, making his defence, said he went home from work that day at about 11 a.m. as he was not feeling well. He was at the toilet when the other two accused returned home.

When he came out, he noticed that there were several men inside the house. Thinking they were NBI officers out to get him for being at home and not at the hospital as he had reported to his superior, he ran out of the house.

The court president said that he could not accept the word of the accused because it would mean Inspector Ibrahim was a liar.

"Why would a police inspector want to commit perjury against a man he does not even know?" he asked.

COMPULSORY TREATMENT FOR DRUG ADDICTS

Kuala Lumpur NEW STRAITS TIMES in English 31 Jul 76 p 11

[Excerpts] Ipoh, Friday--Drug addicts will not be allowed to roam freely in society but will have to undergo compulsory rehabilitation, Deputy Law Minister Encik Rais Yatim said today.

For this purpose, the Dangerous Drug Ordinance, 1952, will be amended to help contain the problem which has reached a "level of great concern."

The Deputy Minister said provisions in the present Ordinance did not provide for compulsory rehabilitation of addicts and punishment for those who absconded from such centres.

He was addressing a gathering in the Town Hall here at the launching of the Perak branch of the National Association against Drug Abuse (Pemadam).

Encik Rais Yatim, who is also the national chairman of Pemadam, said that the number of addicts and drug traffickers had increased three-fold in the past three years.

"Within a short span of time the drug problem has penetrated the youth population in all areas and even in schools where a recent survey by University Sains Malaysia showed that 10 per cent of the student population in Selangor are involved in drug activities.

"The present facilities are insufficient for the rehabilitation of all addicts. However efforts are being made by the Government to set up more rehabilitation centres," added the Deputy Minister.

About $4.5 million has been allocated under the Third Malaysia Plan for the setting up of three such centres at Besut in Trengganu, Bukit Mertajam in Penang, and at Johore Baru.

Encik Rais Yatim said there were 15 cases pending in the High Court involving drug traffickers and these people would face the death penalty if convicted.

MALAYSIANS HELD IN MOSCOW FOR HEROIN SMUGGLING

Kuala Lumpur NEW STRAITS TIMES in English 21 Jul 76 p 20

[Text] Moscow, Tues.--A Moscow court has jailed a young Singapore businessman and his Malaysian girl companion for smuggling heroin, spokesmen for their embassies here said today.

Lee Kim Tek of Singapore and Teah Moy Eng of Penang, were sentenced to five and four years respectively on July 16, they said.

Lee, aged about 22, and Miss Teoh [sic], 20, were arrested on April 15 at Moscow international airport with over eight kilos (20 lb) of heroin sown into the lining of their suitcases.

Another Malaysian, Lim Guat Beng, who was arrested at the same airport on May 18 on suspicion of trying to smuggle heroin from Thailand to Copenhagen, was still awaiting trial, a Malaysian spokesman said.

Diplomatic sources said a young Swiss citizen was also being held on separate drug smuggling charges after being arrested at Moscow airport four weeks ago. But no further details were known.

Four Dutchmen and two West Germans who were jailed here last year for smuggling a total of 63 kilos (139 lb) of hashish and were later pardoned, have returned home, a Dutch Embassy spokesman said today.

Soviet immigration authorities appear to have stepped up their surveillance of transit passengers on their way to Western Europe from South-East Asia.

The Soviet Government paper, IZVESTIYA, alleged last month that there is an established drug trafficking route from Thailand, Malaysia and Singapore which channels narcotics via Moscow to the West.

GIRL APPEALS SENTENCE FOR POSSESSING HEROIN

Brisbane THE COURIER-MAIL in English 17 Sep 76 p 7

[Text] Kuala Lumpur (Special). Blonde West Australian typist Sandra Birch was in Penang Jail yesterday awaiting her appeal against a 6-year sentence for possessing heroin.

Miss Birch, 25, of Bunbury, pleaded not guilty to charges of possession of about 93 grams of heroin under Malaysia's Dangerous Drug Act. She was arrested at the Penang beach resort on 15 April.

She wept when Court President Christopher Fernandez delivered judgment and sentence.

The judge ruled that a statement made by Miss Birch that the heroin was her property was admissible as evidence.

Defence lawyer Kirpal Singh argued against admission of the statement on the grounds that it was forced out of Miss Birch by a narcotics official under threat.

Miss Birch in her defence testimony last Friday told the court that she had admitted possession of the heroin in her statement to protect her boyfriend, Mohamed Desa, who really owned the drug. Desa was jailed for 3 years on drug charges in a separate trial.

The prosecutor asked the court to take a serious view of the offence. He said the quantity of heroin seized was large and Penang faced a serious drug problem.

The defence lawyer told the court that a letter received from Miss Birch's mother showed that she came from a broken home.

Mr Singh pleaded with the court to take a lenient view because, he said, Miss Birch was not a drug pusher or an addict and had never been treated for a drug ailment.

Another of Miss Birch's lawyers said yesterday he did not know how long it would be before her appeal could be heard. If it were refused, she probably would serve between 3 and 4 years, taking into account remissions for good behaviour.
HABIT-FORMING DRUG CONTROL LAW TO BE REVISED

Seoul THE KOREA TIMES in English 3 Oct 76 p 5

[Article by Park Moo-jong]

[Text] Scenes of marijuana smoking in Korea have much changed with the authorities' continued control since nearly a year ago.

Cultivated hemp is extremely difficult to get and addicts are turning to wild hemp growing on hills and riversides. Entertainment people and college students are said to be getting away from the prohibited grass, which is finding new clients among young high school students instead.

The prosecution's intensive control since last November smashed most illegal hemp dealers' organizations throughout the country. The intensity of the probe is still maintained with more than 100 people arrested in the month of September alone.

They were mostly people who smoked wild hemp they picked from hills and riverside wastelands.

Prosecution statistics show that a total of 863 people, including 93 American nationals, have been picked up for smoking or trading in marijuana since last November.

Of them 451 have been indicted and put under arrest and 88 booked without physical detention.

Legislative steps accompanied the prosecution control.

The Habit-forming Drug Control Law is expected to be revised during the current session of the National Assembly to include marijuana on the list of items in which illegal dealing will bring possible death penalties.

The Hemp Control Law was enacted to ban cultivation of and trade in hemp by unauthorized people. The law will take effect January 1, 1977.
When the supply of cultivated hemp is completely blocked with the enforcement of the new law, wild hemp is feared to take its place. For the addicts, it has two merits, stronger hallucinatory effects and no cost.

At this juncture, many people concerned call on the authorities to shift their efforts from the outright control of smokers and traders to social education about the harm of the grass.

Prosecutor Cho Chan-hyong at the Seoul District Prosecution, who directs the marijuana investigation, also acknowledges the need for a social campaign to make young people aware of the mental and physical damage caused by marijuana smoking.

The prosecutor said the tougher the control becomes, the more sophisticated marijuana smoking is.

When the intensive probe started last year, tearooms, taverns and other entertainment places were the most favored places for hemp smokers. These days, young people go to remote hills, temples and suburban fields to smoke the grass.

Prosecution investigators say that the public announcement of the names of people involved in marijuana smoking had good preventive effects. In the case of "marijuana singers," they were expelled from stages as soon as their names were printed in newspapers.

"Marijuana students" were also ousted from campuses. American soldiers who were picked up by Korean investigators and were referred to the U.S. military authorities were also known to have received adequate punishment.

The most troubled area is now youngsters who failed in college entrance examinations. Their frustration and lack of a sense of belonging make them resort to the illegal smoking, investigators say.

Seoul THE KOREA TIMES in English 6 Oct 76 p 8

[Text] The Seoul District Prosecution yesterday arrested four men on suspicion of having produced and sold 60 million won worth of hiroppon to Japan.

Those arrested for violation of the Habit-Forming Drug Control Law are Ho Nam-kyu, 29, of Myongil-dong, southern Seoul; Kim Yong-bong, 55, of Nonhyon-dong, southern Seoul; Han Yong-son, 53, of Nokbon-dong, western Seoul; and Kim Chong-dae, 35, of Ungam-dong, western Seoul.

The prosecution is also seeking a woman and another man who got away in the investigators' raid.

They sold five kilograms of their product to Japan through the crews of ocean-going vessels in Pusan, the prosecution said.

U.S. SOLDIER, OTHERS HELD FOR DRUG SALES

Seoul THE KOREA TIMES in English 1 Oct 76 p 8

[Text] Taegu (OP)—The district prosecution here yesterday arrested seven Koreans and referred an American soldier to military investigation authorities for having produced and sold marijuana and stimulant drug hiroppon.

The prosecution is also seeking three other members of the 11-man marijuana and hiroppon production and sales ring for violating the Habit-Forming Drug Control Law.

According to the prosecution, Kim Hyo-il, 38, of Pusan, now on the loose, produced marijuana and hiroppon at his home and sold the outlawed products to villages near U.S. military installations.

Sgt Arthur King, 26, who was referred to U.S. military investigation authorities, and his Korean wife, Mrs. Lee Chin-suk, now under arrest, were responsible for sales of the drugs, prosecution sources said.

The prosecution confiscated two million won worth of hiroppon and marijuana from the arrested persons.

MAN TRYING TO SMUGGLE HIROPPON ARRESTED

Seoul THE KOREA TIMES in English 3 Oct 76 p 8

[Text] Pusan (HAPDONG)--Tongbu (eastern) Police here arrested a 26-year-old man who tried to smuggle out 20 kilograms of hiroppon, approximately 4,000 million yen worth in Japanese black market, yesterday.

The police are also seeking three other men who were in charge of production and sales of the outlawed stimulant drug.

The arrested person is Kim In-dae of Taeyon-dong, southern Pusan. He was known to have financed the clandestine production of the drug.

According to the police, they produced 30 kilograms of hiroppon in Seoul last March and brought the drug down to Pusan early last month to smuggle it to Japan.

They have already smuggled out 10 kilograms, worth two billion yen in Japan, and were keeping the rest at Kim's house.

THAILAND REPLACES HONG KONG IN EUROPEAN DRUG SUPPLY

Bangkok THE NATION in English 5 Oct 76 p 2 BK

[By Withun Amon]

[Text] Thailand has replaced Hong Kong as the main distribution center for heroin to Western Europe, according to narcotics experts here in Bangkok.

The traffic has become so great in the last 18 months that there are fears that the Asian-American drug pipeline, which has been comparatively quiet lately, could be reactivated.

And Thailand itself is facing a serious addiction problem. As one psychiatrist at an army hospital put it, "you can get heroin easier in Bangkok than a good lipstick."

Arrests are being made, but authorities find it an uphill fight.

A typical example occurred last month when customs officials at Bangkok Airport found 140 kilograms (310 pounds) of heroin in two aviation grease drums destined for Belgium. They took two Dutch suspects into custody.

Police say almost all the estimated 2,250 kilograms (5,000 pounds) of heroin entering Europe last year came from Southeast Asia. Only about 10 percent of that amount was intercepted by the authorities.

Records show that illicit drug imports are on the increase and 200 kilograms (440 pounds) of heroin were seized in Europe in the first half of this year alone.

The surging flow of Asian narcotics to Europe has been due to a decline in availability of morphine there after the Turkish government's 1971 ban on opium growing.

Turkey has recently resumed opium production, but its exports remain negligible.
By contrast the withdrawal of American forces from most of Southeast Asia has led to a drop in amounts of Asian drugs going to the United States. American officials believe only about 10 percent of heroin consumed in their country last year originated from here.

The situation could change now, according to narcotics experts in Bangkok. Mexico, which in the last few years has supplied 90 percent of total American heroin intake, has introduced a herbicide program aimed at destroying opium crops. Success of the scheme would reduce the supply from Mexico and raise fears that the Asian-American connection would become more active.

The Thai statistics are alarming. In the first 6 months of this year Thai police intercepted 7.7 tons of drugs, well above the total of 4.6 tons seized during 1975.

Lack of coordination among authorities sometimes renders law enforcement ineffective. Narcotics Police, for instance, are angry because of recent cases in which known drug traffickers have been released by public prosecutors on grounds of lack of evidence while the police are still piecing together evidence for court action against them.

In a 75,000-square-mile (194,000 sq kilometers) area called the Golden Triangle, where the Thai, Burmese and Laotian borders converge, more than 500 tons of opium are produced each year by hilltribes.

After harvest, raw opium and refined heroin are sent, first by mule caravans and later by all types of vehicles, down through Thailand where half is consumed locally and the rest smuggled abroad.

A recent official study estimates that Thailand, a country of 42 million people, has 400,000 drug addicts. The number represents roughly 1 percent of the entire population, and a tremendous jump from the 1959 figure of 70,000, when opium smoking was outlawed in the country.

The report says youths between the ages of 14 and 25 make up the majority of the addicts.

Dr Arun Showanasai, head of psychiatry of the hospital, said heroin is responsible for at least one death in the country every day.

COURTS GIVE STEEP PENALTIES IN THREE DRUG CASES

Bangkok BANGKOK POST in English 5 Oct 76 p 3 BK

[Text] The Criminal Court yesterday handed down stiff penalties to three alleged drug traffickers—a Thai and two foreigners.

Chaiyut Thondusadi, alias Songhai Sae Heng, (38) was sentenced to life imprisonment after being found guilty of smuggling 6.4 kilograms of No 3 heroin (Brown Sugar) from Malaysia into Thailand.

Chaiyut was arrested on 18 September last year at the Empire Hotel in Yaowarat when police uncovered heroin hidden in two false-bottomed cases containing Chinese sausages.

He reportedly smuggled the heroin from Malaysia and brought it to Bangkok for shipment to Paris via Don Muang Airport due to tight security checks at Malaysia's airport.

Australian Brian William Ward (26), who was arrested at Don Muang Airport's departure lounge with 950 grams of No 4 first grade heroin on 31 May this year, got 33 years and 4 months' jail.

However, the court reduced his jail term by half to 16 years and 8 months after Ward confessed.

He was caught as he was about to board a Singapore-bound flight when customs officials suspected his bulky appearance.

A body search revealed 10 plastic bags of heroin in secret pockets sewn onto his waistcoat.

A young Hong Kong Chinese, Wong Choi-mung, who was arrested at Don Muang Airport on the morning of 2 July this year with 3 kilograms of No 3 (Brown Sugar) heroin stuffed in his underwear and around his ankles, faced 30 years' imprisonment.

However, the court reduced the sentence by half to 15 years after Wong pleaded guilty to the charge.

SIX HEROIN TRAFFICKERS ARRESTED IN TWO RAIDS

Bangkok BANGKOK POST in English 6 Oct 76 p 1 BK

[Text] Narcotics Suppression Police yesterday afternoon arrested six heroin traffickers, two of whom are wanted in a number of European countries and the United States, and confiscated a total of 9.8 kilograms of No 4 heroin in two separate raids at the Dusit Thani Hotel and the Victory Monument.

At about 1300 hours yesterday a team of Narcotics Suppression Police and U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) officers arrested two Thai heroin dealers and a Hong Kong Chinese buyer, while 8.4 kilograms of No 4 heroin, packed in a purple suitcase, was being handed over in the Dusit Thani car park.

The two Thais were identified as Siri Sirikun and Prasan Riangphanitkun. The Hong Kong man was identified as William Yan Wo Chan (31).

Siri and Prasan were earlier placed under close surveillance after police discovered they had allegedly financed and supplied 43 kilograms of No 3 heroin seized in Bremen, Germany on 1 September.

When Bremen police arrested two Malaysians, identified as Tan Bian Hoe (alias Tan Steven) and Lau Hong Chek they discovered the heroin neatly packed in small parcels and hidden under the seats of their car.

The two Malaysians reportedly confessed to West German police that the heroin had come from Thailand in a freighter which arrived in Bremen earlier, hidden in two containers filled with charcoal. They had allegedly planned to smuggle the drug into Amsterdam.

The heroin, worth U.S. $14 million in European markets, was reportedly the largest seizure of the drug ever in West Germany.

A statement made by the two Malaysians to Bremen police implicated Siri and Prasan as major suppliers, and the police here were immediately con-
Siri and Prasan had been under close observation since Prasan was reported to be traveling off and on between Hong Kong and Bangkok and had just returned from Hong Kong prior to the arrests.

Police said they caught the two red-handed yesterday as they were passing the 8.4 kilograms of heroin—worth an estimated 400,000 baht on the local market but 100 times more on the U.S. market, to Chan.

Chan reportedly arrived in Bangkok last month and checked into the Victory Hotel, before contacting Siri and Prasan.

Meanwhile, another Narcotics Suppression Police team arrested three Thais with 1.4 kilograms of No 4 heroin after being tipped off that they would hand over the drug to a buyer in the Victory Monument area.

MATAMOROS CUSTOM STAFF IMPLICATED IN DRUG TRADE

Mexico City EXCELSIOR in Spanish 15 Sep 76 p 29-A [Report by Enrique Morquecho]

[Text] Matamoros, Tamaulipas, 11 Sep--Ignacio Davila Carpio, secretary-general of the Union of Treasury Workers, Customs Section, obtained an injunction for 203 customs employees, including commanders, corporals, watchmen, custom-house inspectors, auditors and trusted personnel, who feared arrest by Federal Police inspectors.

Humberto Salazar Cardenas, a judge of the Second Criminal Court serving on the Nuevo Laredo District Court, granted the injunction.

The customs employees requested the injunction after federal agents suddenly arrested five watchmen suspected of belonging to a powerful gang of smugglers headed by Jorge Humberto Rodriguez Ortega, the former head of customs in this city.

Among those arrested, along with other employees, were Fernando Trevino Trevino, a millionaire poultry merchant; Joaquin Cadena Zapian, a customs auditor; Fernando Mendoza Mazuquielt who is said to be a smuggler; Jorge Luis Valdes Gomez; Manuel Garcia Collado; Ricardo Ramos, a customs warehouseman; and customs house inspectors Angel Mayo Perez, Carlos Morales and Francisco Gabriel Ortiz Alvarado.

They are accused of collaborating with Rodriguez Ortega in operations in which American pilots were charged $5,000 for each trip on which they crossed the frontier and landed their light planes on clandestine airstrips.

Arbitrary Arrests

This became known in Mexico because a pilot, whose name is unknown, was dissatisfied with the price charged and complained to the United States State Department. The State Department informed the Mexican Government. Then the Mexican Attorney General's Office opened an investigation and made the sudden arrests.
Yesterday afternoon numerous groups of federal agents arrested five watchmen of the customs frontier guard. They were taken to the offices of the Military Naval Sector where they were interrogated by Jose Franco Villa, an agent of the Federal Government Attorney's Office and a special investigator of the Attorney General's Office.

The arrested persons were taken from their homes, some wearing only underwear. Ignacio Davila Carpio protested against this action to the federal and state authorities.

One of the arguments Davila Carpio made in defense of the 203 customs employees was that "the arrests were made by the Federal Judicial Police without court orders in violation of Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution."

He told the press, "we do not oppose investigations by the authorities but we demand that these be conducted legally."

The procedure of the Federal Judicial Police frightened the customs employees and their relatives.

He stressed that the number of his fellow workers arrested is not known since all the government agencies refused to provide him this information.

He also reported that several customs employees took temporary refuge in Brownsville, Texas because they feared being unjustly arrested by the police inspectors.

EIGHT-MONTH REVIEW OF PIP ACTIONS AGAINST TRAFFICKERS

Lima EL COMERCIO in Spanish 8 Sep 76 p 17

[Text] During the first 8 months of 1976, personnel of the Directorate of Illicit Drug Trafficking Investigation [DINTID], following the guidelines of the new institutional policy, established by PIP [Peruvian Investigative Police] Command, wiped out powerful international organizations engaged in drug trafficking.

One result of the patient work and efficient preparation of detectives assigned to DINTID was their greatest discovery, a basic paste manufacturing plant that was installed in the Infantas area. It is estimated that nearly 400 kilos of basic cocaine paste was manufactured there.

PIP Superior Inspector Augurio Saldivar Campos, who is serving as Acting Director of DINTID, told a press conference that drugs and implements confiscated between 11 July and 9 October 1976 are worth the fabulous sum of 204,532,885 soles.

The drugs and implements were burned, in accordance with existing regulations, on the outskirts of the capital city in the presence of the minister of interior, Brig Gen Luis Cisneros Visquerra, and numerous newsmen.

At another point in his briefing, he announced that due to the coordinated action of the various PIP organizations, marihuana trafficking has diminished considerably in our country. Such traffic had for some time been a "terrible fever."

He also said that PIP action is planned to protect the student population through talks and conferences, during which expert personnel in this field will clearly and explicitly explain the harmful effects upon young persons of drug usage.

COCAINE PROCESSING LAB DISMANTLED

Lima EL COMERCIO in Spanish 3 Sep 76 p 40

[Text] Huancayo has recently been converted into a basic cocaine producing area. The cocaine paste is manufactured by irresponsible parties who sell it, principally to foreigners.

In August, the police discovered four rings of traffickers, most of whom were arrested.

Yesterday, the investigative police of Huancaya dismantled a fifth ring. The members of this ring had their clandestine laboratory in the home of Guillermo Davila Matos, which is located in Barrio La Libertad, district of Huayucachi.

The prisoners--Nicolas Diaz Ferrer, 39; Wenceslao Palacios Romero, 30; and Guillermo Davila--told the police that the ring manufactured basic cocaine paste on five occasions. In the same residence, the traffickers had a pit measuring 8 square meters by 1 meter in which the police found a large amount of coca leaves in the maceration stage. The prisoners confessed to the police that during a 1-year period they manufactured 35 kilos of basic cocaine paste that they sold to foreigners who came in search of it.

The investigations leading to the discovery of this new ring were conducted by personnel of the Illicit Drug Traffic Investigations Section of the Huancayo PIP [Peruvian Investigative Police].
A fifth ring of traffickers in basic cocaine paste was discovered by the PIP of Huancaya. In one of the clandestine laboratories of the traffickers, the police found a large pit containing thousands of coca leaves in the maceration stage.
INTERNATIONAL COCAINE RING CAPTURED

Lima EL COMERCIO in Spanish 15 Sep 76 p 1

[Text] The PIP [Peruvian Investigative Police] arrested a powerful organization of drug traffickers made up of Peruvians and Colombians who used light planes for their operations. This is the same ring that in the space of only 1-1/2 years sold 2,500 kilos of basic washed cocaine paste abroad for a total of approximately 300 million soles.

This ring reportedly owned the light plane that was burned last Friday in the vicinity of Viru (Trujillo). The aircraft was carrying 200 kilos of basic cocaine paste destined for Colombia.

It was determined that the light plane made a clandestine landing in Huanuco where it took on the drug shipment. Then, it proceeded to the Puerto Mori area for refueling. However, at takeoff, it was involved in a serious accident that forced those implicated to burn it to make identification more difficult.

Organized Ring

The organization had a modern laboratory for the manufacture of basic cocaine paste which was installed in a luxury residence in Chosica. The ring also had several clandestine landing fields for Colombian light planes, located between Casma and Trujillo.

The fugitive chieftans include Alfonso Rivera Llorente, the ringleader; Manuel Lopez Paredes, a car runner; and Carlos Jordan Silva, who was married 15 days ago and is at present on his honeymoon in the center of the country.

The arrested traffickers are Colombians Hugo Renato Silva Prada, Jose Manuel Ruiz Hernandez, Luis Eduardo Gonzales Cardenas and Julio Cesar Garcia, as well as Peruvians Jorge Lopez Paredes (brother of the car runner); Hector Sarria Sanchez; and Luis Quiroz Pastor. The last named had a job as a mechanic with an aviation company.
The prisoners stated that they operated out of different residences paid for in cash. They remained in these houses for a few months and then transferred to others, to continue their activities without arousing suspicions.

One of the landing fields was located at kilometer marker 459 on the Pan-American Norte, well camouflaged to hide the gasoline with which the light planes were refueled. The captured criminals said that 12 drug-filled suitcases were carried on each trip made by the Colombian twin-engine planes.

The PIP found 36 kilos of basic washed cocaine paste in the trunk of a luxury automobile.

DRUG RING DISMANTLED—The criminal organization that engaged in the sale of cocaine hydrochloride and illegal foreign liquor, especially adulterated whisky, was dismantled by personnel of the Investigative Police. Part of the drug was found in the house of one of the drug traffickers. The drug was wrapped in small packets of the product called "King-Size" to facilitate its transport to the international "black market." The police operation was initiated in a dwelling owned by Jesus Maria in which a woman was arrested with 40 small packets of cocaine hydrochloride and 37 bottles of liquor. Some 27 bottles of whisky and 9 of cognac had a questionable appearance. Questioned as to the origin of the drug, the woman supplied valuable information that led detectives of the Directorate of Illicit Drug Trafficking to the discovery of members of the Mafia, confiscation of cocaine and implements for its manufacture and the capture of most of the traffickers. ARMY DESTROYS 40 HECTARES OF MARIHUANA

Caracas ULTIMAS NOTICIAS in Spanish 8 Sep 76 p 7

[Article by Carlos Villegas]

[Text] Some 40 or more hectares of marihuana which were planted in Venezuelan territory near La Guajira by Colombians were seized and destroyed by personnel of the Venezuelan Army. Infantry and other military personnel used two helicopters to arrest two of these "peasants"; however, the others took flight.

The Colombian newspaper EL ESPECTADOR stated that members of the Army and the National Guard of Venezuela took armed action against peaceful Colombian peasants in the border area of La Guajira, indicating that the site of the encounter is known as "La Meseta" which is in the jurisdiction of Villanueva. The journalist of that Colombian daily added that Venezuelan military personnel arrived there in three helicopters and provoked a fight which turned out badly for the Colombian peasants. To this end, the troops made use of the butts of their rifles as well as rakes to dislodge these peasants from Colombian lands and to cause three of them to "disappear" when they invaded the farms where these peasants were living.

The Colombian newsman adds that the Ministry of Defense of Columbia said that "it was not aware of this encounter." The Venezuelan military attaché in that country gave the same answer.

National Guard

On this subject, ULTIMAS NOTICIAS consulted yesterday with Maj Gen Damaso de Jesus Perez Maluho, commander general of the Armed Forces of Cooperation, who said, "The story as reported from Colombia is untrue. We took no action there. The Army was in charge of the operation."

Army

Then Maj Gen Victor Molina Vargas, commander general of the Army, clarified the question as reported by the Colombian newspaper: "We were the ones who took action on the border. It was clearly in Venezuelan rather than Colombian territory. I must state that two helicopters and not three were used to destroy a marihuana field which covered an area of 40 hectares and which had been installed in Venezuelan territory, some 500 meters from the Colombian border. The incident occurred near Villanueva in an area known as "Cano Escondido." As for the persons who "disappeared," he indicated that there were none, as the Army had merely arrested two of those implicated in the planting of marihuana in Venezuelan territory.

Other Details

ULTIMAS NOTICIAS was later able to establish that the Army personnel who took part in the destruction of the marihuana field which Colombians were cultivating in Venezuelan territory, contiguous to both borders, are attached to the 3d Infantry Division and that the marihuana plants destroyed by the Army were around 80 centimeters high. As for the military operation on the part of the Army, everything was under the command of Brig Gen Antonio Rigores, Commander of Infantry Division H of the Army, with headquarters in Maracaibo, state of Zulia.

The entire area which was sown with marihuana, some 40 or more hectares, is in the hands of the Venezuelan Army, inasmuch as the Colombians in charge of that field took flight into their country's mountains, which are contiguous with Venezuela.
