DPRK RADIO REPORTS ACTIVITIES OF RESOURCES MINISTRY.

Pyongyang Domestic Service in Korean 0800 GMT 3 Oct 78 SK

[Excerpts] Inspired by the historic report delivered by the great leader at the central celebration meeting marking the 30th anniversary of the founding of the republic amid boundless jubilation and happiness, members of geological survey teams nationwide under the Ministry for Development of Resources [chawon kaebal pu] have vigorously risen to search for new underground resources to secure more ore deposits.

Upholding the great leader's teachings, the ministry is concentrating its efforts on surveying for fuel and raw material resources and rare metals which are significant in achieving the chuche-orientation of the people's economy, and is reinforcing production guidance and capabilities for survey work, taking all necessary measures.

Having received the great leader's historic report at the central celebration meeting on the 30th anniversary of the founding of the republic, members of the Sinuiju and Unjon geological survey teams are fully operating their test drills at the job site which they newly found after crossing rugged terrain for over 40 ri, they are brilliantly overfulfilling their daily tunneling target, which was set very high according to their own resolution, by 105 percent. Members of the Machollyong district geological survey team, who are working in a rugged environment some 1,800 meters above sea level, are increasing the tunneling speed by actively applying new surveying methods, excellently conducting facility management and full operating their test drills in an effort to unconditionally fulfill this year's target before 10 October. Members of the Kukdaebong and Samsin geological survey teams are also effecting remarkable innovations in their striving to secure more ore deposits by increasing their surveying speed and efficiency. Members of the Samsin geological survey team in particular are scoring new gains in the fault survey work by introducing [words indistinct] into drilling work that will greatly contribute to correctly grasping the status of the fault and to increasing surveying speed.

Soil analysts in each district are conducting research and analysis work with various geological investigation data already on hand, and are actively struggling to smoothly meet the demand for ore resources of the various sectors and spheres of the people's economy.

DPRK ENGINEERING INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION INCREASES

Pyongyang KCNA in English 1508 GMT 9 Oct 78 SK

[Text] Pyongyang, 9 Oct (KCNA)--The proportion of the engineering industry in our industrial output rose from 5.1 percent to 33.7 percent between 1946 and 1977.

The great leader Comrade Kim Il-song has wisely guided the work for building a modern engineering industry.

The nation's annual machine tool output showed an increase of 105 times as against that in 1955, the year when the full-scale production of machine tools started.

The production of automobiles and tractors jumped respectively 97 times and 300 times this year above that in 1959.

The production of excavators, bulldozers, generators, electric motors, transformers and other major machines has also made a big stride forward.

Our country produces general machines, special machines, precision machines, mining machines, big generating equipment, electric locomotives and other rolling stock and whole sets of equipment for outfitting metallurgical, chemical and cement plants, light industrial factories and other modern factories.

Our country's self-sufficiency rate is 98 percent in machinery.

The existing factories are better equipped and replenished and the Taean heavy-machine plant, the automation apparatus plant and many other machine plants are now under construction in our country to produce various machines needed for equipping all branches of the national economy with latest technique.

ELECTRIFICATION OF DPRK RAILWAY LINES ACCELERATED

Pyongyang KCNA in English 1103 GMT 4 Oct 78 SK

[Text] Pyongyang, 4 Oct (KCNA)--Some 1,600 kilometre long sections of railway lines will be electrified in our country during the period of the Second Seven-Year Plan.

As part of them, the electrification of the Taedonggang-Sinsongchon section is now progressing apace.

The builders participating in the project have finished in a brief time the lowering of the tunnel beds and the construction of traction substations and shunting posts and are energetically carrying on the work of assembling installations of substations and laying cables for locomotives and communication lines and projects in railway station compounds.

They have of late doubled the speed of the project.

The Kilehu-Hyesan section extending 140 kilometres was electrified recently.

During the fulfillment of the six-year plan, 380 kilometre railway sections of steep gradient and busy traffic were electrified; now electric locomotives run not only on such main trunk lines as the Pyongyang-Najin and Sinuiju-Pyongyang-Madong lines but on branch lines in the inland.

Now the proportion of haulage by electric locomotives has reached 66 percent in the total railway freightage. It will rise to 87 percent in the period of the new long-term plan.

'KCNA' REPORTS ON DPRK INDUSTRIAL GROWTH

Pyongyang KCNA in English 1041 GMT 10 Oct 78 SK

[Text] Pyongyang, 10 Oct (KCNA)—Our land, once a backward colonial agricultural country, has been turned into a mighty socialist industrial state under the wise guidance of the great leader Comrade Kim Il-song.

The nation's industrial output last year was 196 times that in 1946.

Our industry leapfrogged at a high average annual rate of 12.8 percent in the period from 1961 to 1970 when the tasks of socialist industrialisation were promoted on an overall scale. This led to the fulfillment of the task of industrialisation in a short period of 14 years.

The average annual growth rate of industry chalked up 16.3 percent during the six-year plan for consolidating and developing the success of socialist industrialisation and lifting the technical revolution to a new, higher stage.

The industrial production target was far surpassed during the first half of this year, the first year of the Second Seven-Year Plan denoting a new, higher stage of socialist construction.

Now our heavy industry has its own powerful machine-building industry as its core and has all key branches. The share of the machine building industry in the gross industrial output value leaped from 5.1 percent in 1946 to 33.7 percent in 1977.

Light industry has also made a fast progress alongside heavy industry. The demands of the working people for textiles, daily necessities and processed food are satisfied with home products today in our country which had relied on imports for nearly all the consumer goods.

Our agriculture has turned into a modernized socialist one which fully meets the home demands for agricultural produce.
With the vigorous promotion of the rural technical revolution, a fully developed irrigation system has been set up and farming is done with the help of machines and chemicals to bring rich crops every year.

Our country, which was a famine zone under the Japanese imperialist colonial rule, has turned into a land with food enough and to spare, which exports hundreds of thousands of tons of rice every year.

These achievements are results of the thorough implementation of the line of building an independent national economy in our country under the wise guidance of the great leader.

'KCNA' REPORTS DPRK EDUCATION FIGURES

Pyongyang KCNA in English 1033 GMT 11 Oct 78 SK

[Text] Pyongyang, 11 Oct (KCNA)--The age-old desire of our people for education has been fully realised under the most advanced educational system set up by the great leader Comrade Kim Il-song.

Now all the children of our country are provided with full conditions for studying to their hearts satisfaction without paying a penny till their working age. This is firmly guaranteed by the universal 11-year compulsory education--one year of pre-school compulsory education and 10-year compulsory school education under the free education system.

Before liberation, not a single college or a university could be found in our country and there were only one or two middle schools in a province. But now it has nearly 10,000 schools of all levels including 158 higher educational institutions, over 600 higher special schools and more than 4,000 senior middle schools, and all-embracing cadre-training centre has been firmly laid in each province, and the nation has upwards of 200,000 teachers well prepared politically and ideologically, scientifically and technically.

The material and technical foundations of the schools have been solidified.

Excellent educational establishments are found everywhere in cities and villages and textbooks, school things and teaching tools are sufficiently supplied. The universities and colleges have modernly equipped practice rooms and designing rooms and the senior middle schools are so well furnished as to conduct two-member team experiments in natural science subjects.

In these fully equipped educational institutions 8.6 million children and students, more than a half of the population, receive education at the expense of the state and society.

The students of the higher educational institutions and special schools receive stipends.
Deep attention is paid in our country to the training of native cadres and adult education.

Long ago all the working people acquired the general knowledge of middle school graduate or above and now all of them are studying hard to master the general knowledge of senior secondary school graduate. Now our country has a big army of 1 million intellectuals.

Upholding "Theses on Socialist Education" authored by the great leader Comrade Kim Il-song, our country will enforce a compulsory higher education in the near future on the basis of the consolidation and development of the universal 11-year compulsory education.

PYONGYANG RADIO HAS FOUR FREQUENCIES

Tokyo KITA CHOSEN KENKYU in Japanese No 51, Sep 78 p 37

[Text] Of the radio transmissions emanating from Pyongyang in North Korea, those which can be received in Japan during the day are all short wave and are broadcast on four frequencies. Of these four frequencies (if we call them A, B, C and D), A-B and C-D have separate programming, but programs on A and B and those on C and D are broadcast simultaneously. That is, Pyongyang carries out two types of broadcasting and each type transmits on two frequencies. So of these the A and C waves can be heard clearly in Japan, but B and D are indistinct. It is believed that A and C are obviously directed towards Japan, but B and D may be directed towards the North Korean domestic audience. Why are B and D judged to be directed towards the domestic audience? It is believed that the reasons the B and D transmissions are indistinct is that they may be broadcasting programs once by short wave from Pyongyang to local radio stations such as Chongjin, Sinuiju and Wonsan and these local radio stations in turn rebroadcast them in local areas on the medium wave.

For example, an article titled "Let Us Tighten Our Guard and Be Prepared for War" by former Chinese Defense Minister Hsu Hsiang, which was gisted in the 1 August NODONG SINMUN, was also broadcast on Pyongyang radio.

This program was broadcast on 1 [August] at 1600 hours for six minutes on A and B frequencies, after which it was broadcast at 1700 hours for six minutes on the C and D frequencies. It is believed that this was obviously meant for an overseas audience, but at the same time might have been broadcast for a domestic audience as well.

Pyongyang radio has a powerful transmission output and it is believed that the domestic medium wave output is also powerful.

When the International Telecommunications Union's International Frequencies Registration Committee met in October of 1975, North Korea filed with them two 1,500 KW high output medium frequency stations and two 1,000 KW stations together with 95 stations of 500 KW or less. At that time Japan filed with them only frequencies of a maximum output of 500 KW.

SATELLITE CITY BUILT NORTH OF PYONGYANG

Seoul FUKHAN in Korean Sep 78 pp 139-140

[Article: "Recent Construction of Satellite City North of Pyongyang"]

[Text] North Korea is building a new satellite city in Kanri (also known as Singam-ri), Hyongje-san District, located in northern Pyongyang. It has been disclosed that the completion date of the first stage of construction was set as 9 September (commemoration of the founding of the North Korean government) and that construction is being pressed forward to meet this date.

As reported in a Pyongyang broadcast on 13 July, the satellite city construction is planned as follows:

1. Construction of highway network

2. Construction of modern housing for several thousands of households along both sides of these roadways. (Among these several thousands of households have already been built and are undergoing interior construction)

3. In each housing district, various kinds of service facilities, day-care centers, kindergartens, schools, etc., are to built.

Relative to this, North Korea announced comprehensive construction guidelines for the city of Pyongyang in 1960 to the effect that, under a program to develop the city of Pyongyang into a so-called large-scale international municipality, Pyongyang was to be divided into three major sectors: center city, semi-satellite city and satellite city. The important points in these guidelines are as follows:

a. Center City: In five districts: Central District, Moranbong, Sosong, Oesong, Songyo, North Korean government organs and foreign embassies, etc., will be situated, making this into a political and economic center.
b. Semi-satellite city: In the seven districts of Taesong, Taedongang, Pot-onggang, P'yongch'on, housing and light industrial facilities are located, and the area will be developed into a distribution base for daily necessities.

c. Satellite city: The seven districts of Samsok, Yongsong, Hyongjesan, Mangyongdae, Yok-p'o, Sungho and Sunan and the three counties of Kangnam, Chunghwa, and Sangwon will be joined to make a satellite city, and in this area high-pollutant heavy industrial facilities and agricultural areas including farms and ranches will be established.

The Kan-ri area in the Hyongjesan District, which North Korea has recently declared an object for development, falls under the above satellite city area.

Taking this into consideration, North Korea's building a satellite city in the northern area of Pyongyang shows that one facet of the Pyongyang City comprehensive construction program is being pursued according to the developmental guidelines announced in 1960.

Of particular note, the Kan-ri area is becoming a strategic transportation point, since it became the juncture of the important Kyongui and P'yongwon railroad trunk lines after the Sop'o-Manp'ung rail lines of the P'yongwon line (Sop'o-Kowon in South Hamgyong Province) were changed to connect Kan-ri and Manp'ung in 1965 in order to alleviate the pressure on the Pyongyang station.

Consequently, North Korea's development of the Kan-ri area as a satellite city is explained as principally to solve the housing problem along with the necessity for city re-development arising from population concentration in a transportation center. Along with this, it also appears that with the formation of an outer base of operations for Pyongyang through satellite cities already developed from Sunan and Sungho districts and Chunghwa County, another purpose was to disperse the population of Chungsin County, containing over a million people (Chungsim and the semi-satellite city).

[Article: "Appointment of Veteran Diplomats and Resumption of Diplomatic Activities in Northern Europe"]

[Text] It has been disclosed that North Korea has either replaced or newly appointed 15 overseas diplomats as of July of this year, including the restoration of diplomatic relations with the country of Ghana in Africa, which had been in a state of diplomatic deep freeze since July 1966, and that the veteran diplomat, Ch'oe U-chin, was appointed ambassador to Ghana on 18 July.

Background of Resumption of Diplomatic Relations With Ghana

North Korea established diplomatic relations with Ghana in December 1964 and set up a permanent embassy in Ghana. Five years later in March 1966, when President Nkrumah lost power, diplomatic relations were severed and the embassy withdrawn in July of that year.

Nevertheless, North Korea had steadily endeavored to reopen diplomatic relations with such enticements as sending special emissaries and delegations and giving technological and economic aid to Ghana every year since June 1971.

On two occasions, for example, in June 1971 and August 1975, they sent Yim Hak-ch'ol and Kong Chin-t'ae (deputy prime minister) to Ghana as special emissaries of Kim Il-song, and delivered letters of friendship. They not only gave the equivalent of $30,000 of developmental assistance funds through the traveling delegation (Kim Il-ho, chairman) in March 1972, but also sent Chon Myong-su (deputy minister of foreign affairs) in February 1975 and proposed to dispatch irrigation technicians.

Along with these flirtations by North Korea, Ghana's Acheampong government (seized power by coup d'etat in January 1972) altered the policy of the Korean peninsula which had been established (recognition presupposing the establishment of a single government), recently changed to a utilitarian diplomatic line, and decided on simultaneous recognition of North and South Korea in October 1977, thereby normalizing relations with North Korea.

Status of Diplomat Replacement as of First Half of 1978

This year, 15 ambassadors have been either replaced or newly appointed by North Korea up to the middle of July, including the ambassador to Ghana.

Among these, the Middle Eastern and African areas had the most; nine persons. Of particular note, they appointed new ambassadors to the four northern European countries of Finland, Denmark, Sweden and Norway, where diplomatic activities had been at a virtual standstill since October 1976, when they had been disgraced by the narcotics smuggling incidents, and it was disclosed that they have recently requested a diplomatic agreement.

This demonstrates that North Korea is doing its utmost to restore the diplomatic authority that it had lost.

Moreover, the 15 ambassadors who were replaced or newly appointed this year (as of the middle of July) are at a level similar to the 12 for the first half of last year. Among these, the period of reassignment was 3-5 years and of these, 10 were regular rotations, three were new appointments, one was co-accredited and one to Ghana.

Regarding the personal qualifications of the replacements: among the 15, 13 were veteran foreign service personnel and, outnumbering lateral assignments (four persons) there were four office chiefs from headquarters (Ministry of Foreign Affairs), four persons already assigned to foreign embassies, thus greatly enlarging the force of new personnel. Consequently, one can conclude that a great effort is being made to assign foreign service personnel who are well versed and skilled in the affairs of the areas of assignment.

Consequently, inasmuch as North Korea has readjusted and strengthened overseas embassies to such an extent during the first half of this year, it is safe to say that diplomatic activities which had been at a standstill since the narcotics smuggling incidents in 1976 will show even greater vitality after the latter half of this year.

DPRK CORPORATION SEEKS OVERSEAS CONSTRUCTION PROJECTS

Pyongyang FOREIGN TRADE in English Jun 78 pp 8-10

[Article: "Our Construction Service Abroad"]

[Text]

Firstly, to design the buildings most conveniently to the people's life and production activities of given countries.

Secondly, to pay a special attention to build buildings neatly and beautifully in keeping with the national feelings of the given countries and modern sense of beauty.

Thirdly, to build buildings durably and solidly so that they may be handed down for generations.

The great leader Comrade Kim Il Sung taught: "In creating our architecture we should pay an attention to develop it into modern and beautiful one while keeping the national peculiarity."

With the teaching of the great leader as our guiding principle we do our best to reflect the national character of the given country and the modern sense of beauty in the buildings which we undertake abroad.

The construction of public buildings holds an important place in our corporation's building work abroad. In particular, the cultural and educational institutions built by us are warmly welcomed. They are rated to meet well the needs of the people in the given country for cultural life and architectural aesthetics.
In designing the cultural and educational establishments we direct a special attention to harmonize the national character of the country and the needs of architectural aesthetics and to make buildings more convenient and durable.

In drawing designs for theatres, cinemas, libraries and other cultural and educational establishments we fully reflect the requests of the demanders.

We have able and experienced designers and building potentiality capable of designing and building theatres of various forms, purposes and accommodation capacities.

Some years ago the Mansudae Art Theatre which can be proud of being a collection of theatrical architecture was erected in Pyongyang in a matter of one year by our builders. Nowhere can be found such a theatre that can match it in the view-point of architecture. The latest achievements of scientific and technological development were introduced comprehensively in the building of the theatre. This proves that we have built up a powerful technical forces capable of building any modern theatres in a short period.

In compliance with orders we build not only a universal theatre where various art performances, music and dance in the main, can be put on the stage, but also specialized theatres such as opera theatres, drama theatres, acrobatic theatres and music halls. The number of seats are chosen from several hundreds to several thousands according to the demanders' request.

The theatres are to be furnished with modern stages, concert halls, waiting rooms for players, room of repairing and making set pieces, machine room, study and rehearsal rooms for players and lounges.

The stages are completely automated. They are so designed as to produce varieties of changes of stage and various artistic effects in a short span of time. In case of a big theatre the stage will be designed to move up and down, right and left and revolve, so that it can give a free presentation of any work of art.

We may install modern illuminators for stage lighting. The illumination apparatuses will be designed to guarantee the formative representation of art work at the highest level. In designing seats we direct a primary attention to enable the spectators enjoy art performance to the full.

The sound conditioning in the theatre is done well. According to the order the variable sound conditioning and stereophonic recording equipment can be set up at the theatre. In designing theatres we pay an attention to introduce the building style congenial to the climatic condition of the country. We also give a due attention to the various engraving ornaments of the theatre, taking the character of performance into account. Our engraving building ornament which suits to the national sentiment of the country helps to enrich the substance and form of building and to make it more beautiful.

As we can also build libraries and halls on modern designs.

As for libraries, we offer to build such specialized libraries as students' and children's libraries, college libraries, scientific libraries along with the comprehensive libraries.

Taking the requirements of library science into full consideration reading rooms and book shelves classified in different fields of science, the lifts and highting apparatuses will be set in an up-to-date and rational way. Cosy public service establishments will be attached to the libraries.

Along with ordinary cinema houses we also build specialized cinema houses for three-dimensioned films and wide-screen films, in compliance with the orders. These cinema houses will have good sound-conditioning.

While we go abroad to build cultural and educational establishments, we also supply technical documents of designs in accordance with their demands.
