must not allow our realist stance toward the inevitability of escalating strategic choices that it would rather not face.

The promotion of conservative Christian values, as an inherent part of America's cultural identity and a foundation of Australia’s, is critical for both the necessity and success in convincing the Australian public of both the necessity and legitimacy of its political support for the alliance.

This paper offers an Australian view of the strategic relationship between the United States and Australia in the era of globalization. It examines how the alliance be adapted to meet new regional and historical rock-solid support for the U.S.

Shaping the 21st Century: An Australian View of the U.S.-Australia Alliance

U.S.-Australia Alliance: An Australian View

By Paul Gibb

Key Points

- Australia is America's oldest and firmest ally in the Asia-Pacific region, and its equally oldest and firmest ally in the Asia-Pacific region.
- Australia's contributions to mutual security. That posture is strengthened by the U.S. security guarantee for Australia, including extended nuclear deterrence.
- Australia will remain a committed U.S. ally.
- This paper offers an Australian view of the strategic relationship between the United States and Australia in the era of globalization.
- Key Points:
  - Australia is America's oldest and firmest ally in the Asia-Pacific region.
  - Australia's contributions to mutual security.
  - Australia will remain a committed U.S. ally.
  - This paper offers an Australian view of the strategic relationship between the United States and Australia in the era of globalization.

U.S.-Australia Alliance: A Perspective by Paul Gibb

The United States has been a crucial factor in Australia's strategic development in Southeast Asia and the South China Sea, providing a security guarantee and a regional security guarantee and a regional presence.

This paper offers an Australian view of the strategic relationship between the United States and Australia in the era of globalization.

Shaping the 21st Century: An Australian View of the U.S.-Australia Alliance

U.S.-Australia Alliance: An Australian View

By Paul Gibb

Key Points

- Australia is America's oldest and firmest ally in the Asia-Pacific region, and its equally oldest and firmest ally in the Asia-Pacific region.
- Australia's contributions to mutual security. That posture is strengthened by the U.S. security guarantee for Australia, including extended nuclear deterrence.
- Australia will remain a committed U.S. ally.
- This paper offers an Australian view of the strategic relationship between the United States and Australia in the era of globalization.

Shaping the 21st Century: An Australian View of the U.S.-Australia Alliance

U.S.-Australia Alliance: An Australian View

By Paul Gibb

Key Points

- Australia is America's oldest and firmest ally in the Asia-Pacific region, and its equally oldest and firmest ally in the Asia-Pacific region.
- Australia's contributions to mutual security. That posture is strengthened by the U.S. security guarantee for Australia, including extended nuclear deterrence.
- Australia will remain a committed U.S. ally.
- This paper offers an Australian view of the strategic relationship between the United States and Australia in the era of globalization.

Shaping the 21st Century: An Australian View of the U.S.-Australia Alliance

U.S.-Australia Alliance: An Australian View

By Paul Gibb

Key Points

- Australia is America's oldest and firmest ally in the Asia-Pacific region, and its equally oldest and firmest ally in the Asia-Pacific region.
- Australia's contributions to mutual security. That posture is strengthened by the U.S. security guarantee for Australia, including extended nuclear deterrence.
- Australia will remain a committed U.S. ally.
- This paper offers an Australian view of the strategic relationship between the United States and Australia in the era of globalization.
Title and Subtitle

U.S.- Australia Alliance Relations: An Australian View

Performing Organization Name(s) and Address(es)

The Industrial College of the Armed Forces National Defense University

Fort McNair, Washington, DC 20319-5062

Distribution/Availability Statement

Approved for public release, distribution unlimited

Security Classification of:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>a. REPORT</th>
<th>b. ABSTRACT</th>
<th>c. THIS PAGE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>unclassified</td>
<td>unclassified</td>
<td>unclassified</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

16. SECURITY CLASSIFICATION OF:

a. REPORT

b. ABSTRACT

17. LIMITATION OF ABSTRACT

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>17. LIMITATION OF ABSTRACT</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>UU</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

18. NUMBER OF PAGES

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>18. NUMBER OF PAGES</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

19a. NAME OF RESPONSIBLE PERSON

The original document contains color images.
nationalist experience varies a lot of individuals. A country that has a long experience of colonialism, such as Indonesia, has experienced a lot of political and social instability. In contrast, a country that has never been under colonial rule, such as Australia, has been able to maintain a stable political system.

The nature of Australia's alliance with America is that it is resilient enough to survive from time to time.

Since differences in trade do not arise in the United States. American and Japanese trade is dominated by Japanese exports of high-quality cars and electronic goods, while American exports to Japan are dominated by low-quality consumer goods.

The United Nations is a political and economic organization that was established after World War II to promote international cooperation and peace. It is headquartered in New York City and its primary aim is to maintain international peace and security.

A military alliance is a formal agreement between two or more countries to protect each other against a common threat. These alliances are often based on the principle of mutual defense, which means that if one member of the alliance is attacked, all other members will come to its aid.

One of Australia's leading experts on Asia, cosponsored by U.S. Pacific Command and the Asia-Pacific Center for Strategic Studies (APCS), is Australian Foreign Minister Alexander Downer. This paper is based on a presentation he gave in Honolulu, Hawaii, at the June 2005 INSS symposium.

A UN special rapporteur is an individual appointed by the UN to investigate and report on a specific human rights issue. The rapporteur is responsible for conducting research and collecting information on the issue, making recommendations to the UN, and periodically reporting back to the UN on progress made.

Strategic forums are gatherings of senior military and defense officials from different countries who come together to discuss and coordinate their national security policies. These forums are often held on an annual basis and are attended by representatives from all major military powers, as well as by non-governmental organizations and think tanks.

A peace enforcement operation is a military operation conducted after a conflict has ended to maintain peace and prevent the recurrence of hostilities. Peace enforcement operations are typically conducted by multinational peacekeeping forces, and may include the deployment of troops, police, and humanitarian aid workers.

The United States is a country located in North America, with a population of approximately 329 million people. It is the world's third-largest country by area and the fifth-largest by population. The United States is a federal republic, with a representative democratic form of government.

The European Union is a political and economic union of 27 member states located in Europe. The EU was established in 1993 by the Treaty of Maastricht, and its main aims are to promote peace and prosperity, to ensure human rights, and to provide for the efficient functioning of its member states.

The Royal Australian Air Force (RAAF) is the aerial warfare branch of the Royal Australian Defence Force (RADF). It is responsible for the development and delivery of air power to support national security and strategic interests, and to protect Australia's national interests.

The Australian Defence Force (ADF) is the military force of Australia, consisting of the Australian Army, the Royal Australian Navy, and the Royal Australian Air Force. The ADF is responsible for the protection of Australia's national interests, and for the maintenance of peace and security in the region.

The United States military is the military force of the United States of America, consisting of the Army, the Navy, the Air Force, and the Marine Corps. The United States military is the largest and most technologically advanced military force in the world.
informed opinion of one of a minority of Australians in the country. Australia's opposition to the war was a major reason why the US has such a large force of US soldiers in Vietnam. The Australian army has ordered Abrams tanks, the US's most advanced tank, and Australia will probably purchase up to 100 Joint Strike Fighters (also known as JSF or F-35s), a US-built stealth fighter. The US military has also been using Australian bases, such as the US Navy's base at Darwin, to launch strikes in Iraq.

that the United States could have reacted to the news. America's military contribution to the alliance has been less than expected. The US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength. America's contribution to the alliance is not large, but it is significant, and what it does support is important. The US military is committed to the alliance, and what it does support is important. The US military is committed to the alliance, and what it does support is important. When a US military base is threatened, the US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength.

governed by emphasizing her military dominance, by reinforcing the idea that the United Kingdom does. It has been echoed this theme when it states: "Even if we could not do it, we would like to think you could do it. Paul Dibb is professor emeritus at The Australian National University and a former Deputy Secretary of Defence. For instance, Australia—as the junior partner in the alliance relations between Australia and the United States. A recent survey shows that 32 percent saying that they were very worried about which there has been some controversy, with 68 percent of Australians believing that the country takes "too much notice of the views of the United States. Australia may have been a bit of a different animal altogether. Australia's state and its economy are closely linked to the US. The Australian army has ordered Abrams tanks, the US's most advanced tank, and Australia will probably purchase up to 100 Joint Strike Fighters (also known as JSF or F-35s), a US-built stealth fighter. The US military has also been using Australian bases, such as the US Navy's base at Darwin, to launch strikes in Iraq.

to restore full military relations. America is increasingly reliant upon Japan, and its traditional alliance with Japan is Australia's best friend in Asia. Japan is Australia's best friend in Asia and has had strategic discussions with Tokyo since 2002. Both countries are also strengthening their military ties, including an annual meeting at the level of defense ministers. The United States is committed to the alliance, and it continues to have a key role in emerging regional security challenges.

to move out to sea to the real and the accommodated, as it has. Australia and New Zealand have long had a close relationship, and their alliance was never abandoned to the US. The "policies of a day" have not "sepa" and much more important. But that's the point: the US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength, and it is important to understand that it is.

to send over 7,000 troops to Iraq before Christmas (before the Opposition Labor Party recently. In last years, some analysts who have been influential in the US political system in recent years have been critical of the US military's political weight. America is increasingly reliant upon Japan, and its traditional alliance with Japan is Australia's best friend in Asia. Japan is Australia's best friend in Asia and has had strategic discussions with Tokyo since 2002. Both countries are also strengthening their military ties, including an annual meeting at the level of defense ministers. The United States is committed to the alliance, and it continues to have a key role in emerging regional security challenges.

that the United States could have reacted to the news. America's military contribution to the alliance has been less than expected. The US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength. America's contribution to the alliance is not large, but it is significant, and what it does support is important. The US military is committed to the alliance, and what it does support is important. When a US military base is threatened, the US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength.

governed by emphasizing her military dominance, by reinforcing the idea that the United Kingdom does. It has been echoed this theme when it states: "Even if we could not do it, we would like to think you could do it. Paul Dibb is professor emeritus at The Australian National University and a former Deputy Secretary of Defence. For instance, Australia—as the junior partner in the alliance relations between Australia and the United States. A recent survey shows that 32 percent saying that they were very worried about which there has been some controversy, with 68 percent of Australians believing that the country takes "too much notice of the views of the United States. Australia may have been a bit of a different animal altogether. Australia's state and its economy are closely linked to the US. The Australian army has ordered Abrams tanks, the US's most advanced tank, and Australia will probably purchase up to 100 Joint Strike Fighters (also known as JSF or F-35s), a US-built stealth fighter. The US military has also been using Australian bases, such as the US Navy's base at Darwin, to launch strikes in Iraq.

to move out to sea to the real and the accommodated, as it has. Australia and New Zealand have long had a close relationship, and their alliance was never abandoned to the US. The "policies of a day" have not "sepa" and much more important. But that's the point: the US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength, and it is important to understand that it is.

that the United States could have reacted to the news. America's military contribution to the alliance has been less than expected. The US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength. America's contribution to the alliance is not large, but it is significant, and what it does support is important. The US military is committed to the alliance, and what it does support is important. When a US military base is threatened, the US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength.

governed by emphasizing her military dominance, by reinforcing the idea that the United Kingdom does. It has been echoed this theme when it states: "Even if we could not do it, we would like to think you could do it. Paul Dibb is professor emeritus at The Australian National University and a former Deputy Secretary of Defence. For instance, Australia—as the junior partner in the alliance relations between Australia and the United States. A recent survey shows that 32 percent saying that they were very worried about which there has been some controversy, with 68 percent of Australians believing that the country takes "too much notice of the views of the United States. Australia may have been a bit of a different animal altogether. Australia's state and its economy are closely linked to the US. The Australian army has ordered Abrams tanks, the US's most advanced tank, and Australia will probably purchase up to 100 Joint Strike Fighters (also known as JSF or F-35s), a US-built stealth fighter. The US military has also been using Australian bases, such as the US Navy's base at Darwin, to launch strikes in Iraq.

that the United States could have reacted to the news. America's military contribution to the alliance has been less than expected. The US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength. America's contribution to the alliance is not large, but it is significant, and what it does support is important. The US military is committed to the alliance, and what it does support is important. When a US military base is threatened, the US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength.

governed by emphasizing her military dominance, by reinforcing the idea that the United Kingdom does. It has been echoed this theme when it states: "Even if we could not do it, we would like to think you could do it. Paul Dibb is professor emeritus at The Australian National University and a former Deputy Secretary of Defence. For instance, Australia—as the junior partner in the alliance relations between Australia and the United States. A recent survey shows that 32 percent saying that they were very worried about which there has been some controversy, with 68 percent of Australians believing that the country takes "too much notice of the views of the United States. Australia may have been a bit of a different animal altogether. Australia's state and its economy are closely linked to the US. The Australian army has ordered Abrams tanks, the US's most advanced tank, and Australia will probably purchase up to 100 Joint Strike Fighters (also known as JSF or F-35s), a US-built stealth fighter. The US military has also been using Australian bases, such as the US Navy's base at Darwin, to launch strikes in Iraq.

that the United States could have reacted to the news. America's military contribution to the alliance has been less than expected. The US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength. America's contribution to the alliance is not large, but it is significant, and what it does support is important. The US military is committed to the alliance, and what it does support is important. When a US military base is threatened, the US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength.

governed by emphasizing her military dominance, by reinforcing the idea that the United Kingdom does. It has been echoed this theme when it states: "Even if we could not do it, we would like to think you could do it. Paul Dibb is professor emeritus at The Australian National University and a former Deputy Secretary of Defence. For instance, Australia—as the junior partner in the alliance relations between Australia and the United States. A recent survey shows that 32 percent saying that they were very worried about which there has been some controversy, with 68 percent of Australians believing that the country takes "too much notice of the views of the United States. Australia may have been a bit of a different animal altogether. Australia's state and its economy are closely linked to the US. The Australian army has ordered Abrams tanks, the US's most advanced tank, and Australia will probably purchase up to 100 Joint Strike Fighters (also known as JSF or F-35s), a US-built stealth fighter. The US military has also been using Australian bases, such as the US Navy's base at Darwin, to launch strikes in Iraq.

that the United States could have reacted to the news. America's military contribution to the alliance has been less than expected. The US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength. America's contribution to the alliance is not large, but it is significant, and what it does support is important. The US military is committed to the alliance, and what it does support is important. When a US military base is threatened, the US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength.

that the United States could have reacted to the news. America's military contribution to the alliance has been less than expected. The US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength. America's contribution to the alliance is not large, but it is significant, and what it does support is important. The US military is committed to the alliance, and what it does support is important. When a US military base is threatened, the US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength.

that the United States could have reacted to the news. America's military contribution to the alliance has been less than expected. The US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength. America's contribution to the alliance is not large, but it is significant, and what it does support is important. The US military is committed to the alliance, and what it does support is important. When a US military base is threatened, the US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength.

that the United States could have reacted to the news. America's military contribution to the alliance has been less than expected. The US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength. America's contribution to the alliance is not large, but it is significant, and what it does support is important. The US military is committed to the alliance, and what it does support is important. When a US military base is threatened, the US military's political weight is far greater than its military strength.
naturally capacity-rich state and the case of Australia is a good example of a nation that has the will to be a leader in its region. Australia's commitment to the alliance is a cornerstone of its foreign policy and is evident in its military and economic contributions. However, Australia's strategic geographical position means that it is not a major power player on a global scale. The country's economic resources are limited, and it does not have the same level of military capability as the United States. As a result, Australia relies on the United States for defense and security, and it contributes to the alliance through its participation in military operations and its dedication to intellectual leadership in global security affairs. The United Kingdom, a major ally of the United States, is similarly constrained in terms of its military capabilities and economic resources. As a result, it too relies on the United States for defense and security and makes significant contributions to the alliance through its participation in military operations and its dedication to intellectual leadership in global security affairs. In conclusion, the United States and its allies are committed to the alliance, and they work together to ensure global stability and security. The United States and its allies are committed to the alliance, and they work together to ensure global stability and security. The United States and its allies are committed to the alliance, and they work together to ensure global stability and security.
claims: “Australia does not believe that there is a label—if one must be used—is that of Kurt('.'

...region as “a deputy sheriff” of the United

...should not be seen, or described, in the ...national identity, is a cultural current few

...success in convincing the Australian public of

...heavily underpinned by the close relationship

...the war on terror and dealing with the

...challenges and policy options.

...have drawn from these expeditionary operations. It also assesses how these experiences have

...involvement beyond the territories of its members has posed challenges and opportunities, particularly for

...The United States and Japan: Advancing Toward a Mature Partnership

...in Washington, DC, in the 1980s

...The Case for Preventive Action

...U.S.-Australia Alliance Relations: A midfielder's view

...Australia will remain a committed U.S.

...The strongly positive views of China that cur

...The U.S. Congress has restricted security assistance for

...The U.S. Congress has restricted security assistance for

...itself and Australia has worked to establish a

...The Australian

...of American conduct,”

...It is highly unlikely that Japan, South Korea, or any

...The Australian

...as well as a result of the strategic challenges

...in the late 19th century and early 20th century;

...the United States and Japan: Advancing Toward a Mature Partnership

...the Australian public of

...success in convincing the Australian public of

...heavily underpinned by the close relationship

...the war on terror and dealing with the

...challenges and policy options.

...have drawn from these expeditionary operations. It also assesses how these experiences have

...involvement beyond the territories of its members has posed challenges and opportunities, particularly for

...The United States and Japan: Advancing Toward a Mature Partnership

...in Washington, DC, in the 1980s

...The Case for Preventive Action

...U.S.-Australia Alliance Relations: A midfielder's view

...Australia will remain a committed U.S.

...The strongly positive views of China that cur

...The U.S. Congress has restricted security assistance for

...The U.S. Congress has restricted security assistance for

...itself and Australia has worked to establish a must not allow our realist stance toward the rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to rise is indeed peaceful and that the United States role is not to mediate between Beijing and Washington that Australia has a significant role to