Mission of the Department of Defense

- The mission of the DoD is to provide military forces needed to deter war and protect the security of the United States. The Military Departments are responsible for organizing, training, supplying, equipping, and mobilizing the forces in support of the DoD mission.

- Executing this mission requires efficient and effective use of available resources, including human, financial, real property, and ecological resources.

- In order to sustain the operations of the Military Departments for conduct of the DoD mission, resources, including historic real property, must be efficiently managed for their productive use. Productive and efficient resource management can be obtained by prioritization of effort, standardization of approach, and flexibility in application.

ASA (I&E) Cultural Resources Program Directive

1. Leverage the existing partnership with the ACHP to support the Army program initiatives delineated herein;

2. Institutionalize the Army Alternate Procedures (AAP) for installation NHPA compliance, and develop an AAP Implementation Plan;

3. Pursue new Army-wide programmatic NHPA compliance actions for historic properties; and,

4. Ensure that an accurate account of historic properties is available to facilitate effective program planning.
Army Historic Preservation Campaign Plan

The Army Historic Preservation Campaign Plan implements the ASA (I&E) Cultural Resources Program Directive by:

- Establishing a Vision statement, goals, objectives, specific targets and milestones, and success indicators for addressing the ASA (I&E) priorities.
- Identifying responsibilities for specific actions.
- Providing the process necessary for the Army to continuously improve the management and execution of the Historic Preservation Program.

Army Historic Preservation Campaign Plan

Benefits

• Campaign Plan actions support Residential Communities Initiative, Army Transformation, Barracks Modernization Program and Army Range Sustainment Plan by streamlining compliance requirements for historic properties.

• New and enhanced program policy, guidance and management techniques promote cost effective historic building management. Upward reporting, feedback and inventory accuracy facilitate continuous program improvement.

• New regulatory actions and legislative tracking serve to improve the balance between the NHPA and the Army mission. Army-wide compliance actions are focused on entire classes of properties and categories of actions – 30,000 historic Army buildings and 26,000 archeological sites to be covered in one-time Army-wide compliance actions. Emerging external requirements are reviewed, commented on and tracked for mission impact.

• Benefit of programmatic compliance actions demonstrated by the Capehart-Wherry Program Comment
