The United States Air Force Academy has hosted the Academy Assembly each year since 1959 as a forum for college students to discuss contemporary public issues. In support of the assembly, a special bibliography relevant to the theme is compiled by McDermott Library’s Social Sciences Bibliographer and Reference Librarian. "Building the Bridge from War to Peace: Defining Interagency Roles in Rebuilding a Nation," Special Bibliography Series, Number 110, focuses on defining the roles of the military and civilian agencies in helping to rebuild war-torn nations. Participants will engage in discussions on when war ends and reconstruction begins, as well as what the responsibilities of different organizations should be in order to most efficiently and effectively repair a war-ravaged area. Most items cited in this bibliography are available from the McDermott Library collections.
Building the Bridge from War to Peace: Defining Interagency Roles in Rebuilding a Nation

November 2009
INTRODUCTION

This Special Bibliography Series, Number 110, "Building the Bridge from War to Peace: Defining Interagency Roles in Rebuilding a Nation," was developed by Social Sciences Bibliographer and Reference Librarian, Ms. Frances K. Scott, in support of the 51st annual Academy Assembly to be held at the Air Force Academy, 6 – 9 October 2009.

Convened annually since 1959, the United States Air Force Academy's Academy Assembly is an undergraduate student conference sponsored jointly by the Air Force Academy and Columbia University's American Assembly. Held on the Academy grounds at the base of the Rampart Range, this student-planned and executed conference provides a unique opportunity for over 50 highly qualified delegates to discuss a topic of contemporary significance.

This year's topic focuses on defining the roles of the military and civilian agencies in helping to rebuild war-torn nations. Participants will engage in discussions on when war ends and reconstruction begins, as well as what the responsibilities of different organizations should be in order to most efficiently and effectively repair a war-ravaged area. Prominent academics, government officials, and business people serve as speakers and roundtable leaders at the event.

This bibliography lists a selected portion of the McDermott (Cadet) Library's holdings on nation building. While it includes books and journal articles, it excludes newspaper articles on nation building. The call number listed at the end of each citation is typically the call number assigned by the Library of Congress, which most libraries use when adding books to their collections.

Questions and comments about this edition to the Special Bibliography Series should be addressed to Ms. Scott at:

If you are a participant in this year's 51st Academy Assembly, we welcome you to your Air Force Academy. We hope that during your stay you will have the opportunity to visit the Academy's McDermott Library, located at the north end of Fairchild Hall.

By writing to the address above, other libraries may obtain (free of charge) a copy of this bibliography as part of the McDermott Library's gifts and exchanges program. It, and the rest of the Special Bibliography Series, is also available on the McDermott Library's web site.
