STUDY NO. 1:
Guide to Captured German Documents

Prepared under contract AF 18 (600-1) with
THE BUREAU OF APPLIED SOCIAL RESEARCH
COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY
The War Documentation Project (WDP) is being conducted under Air Force contract by the Bureau of Applied Social Research, Columbia University. It is a major research activity of the Psychological Warfare Directorate of this Institute. Mr. Hans J. Epstein serves as Project Officer.

The War Documentation Project was conceived to answer a long-standing requirement for the systematic research exploitation of the vast masses of captured documents which came into the hands of the United States Government during and after World War II. The project was planned in two phases. Under Phase I the significant depositories of such documents were to be located and their contents surveyed and catalogued. Under Phase II the documentary holdings thus surveyed are to be exploited for systematic research, focusing on tasks in the psychological warfare and intelligence fields. Phase I was undertaken with the aid and support of the Department of the Army, the Department of the Navy, and the Department of State. This phase was completed in June 1952, and Phase II was initiated soon afterwards.

The present volume is to be regarded as a by-product of Phase I. The collection and publication of this guide was not originally contemplated or called for in the contract, but as the work of the WDP staff progressed towards its prescribed goal, the information here assembled was accumulated.

For a long time scholars and researchers have been contributing to the efforts of the Armed Forces of our country. In doing so, their professional identity has been sacrificed to the anonymity demanded by security restriction. It is with very real satisfaction, therefore, that the United States Air Force makes available a volume which primarily meets scholarly needs, although it results from a governmental research undertaking of restricted scope and operationally defined focus.

I feel certain that the Guide to Captured German Documents will be but the first in a significant and useful series of publications produced by the War Documentation Project.

Preface

This Guide to captured German documents is the out-growth of efforts on the part of the War Documentation Project (WDP) to secure as accurate information as possible on the fate and location of freely accessible German documentary sources scattered by the fate of war. It should be noted that the term “captured documents” is used here not with its limited legal significance; the expression is applied, in a generalizing and abbreviating sense, to German materials which through capture, confiscation, purchase, donation, salvage, etc., were transferred to non-German control during or after World War II.

As more and more information on German documentary holdings outside Germany accumulated, it seemed useful to make a compilation of the data gathered generally available. The difficulties encountered in collecting this information for the War Documentation Project itself—difficulties which have presumably confronted other organizations and individuals—greatly strengthened the intention of publishing this Guide.

The Guide has been prepared on a co-operative basis; several members of the staff of the WDP have made important contributions. The following staff members aided in collecting the information: Kurt DeWitt, Wilhelm Moll, Frances Mond, Hans Weil, and Earl Ziemke.

Philip E. Mosely, Director of the Russian Institute, Columbia University, and Senior Consultant to the WDP, has been the principal advisor to the project since its inception; to his unflagging efforts and endeavors the WDP in general, and this, its first publication, in particular, owes a singular debt of gratitude. The task of putting some form into the material has benefited from the labors of exceedingly patient and devoted secretaries, Mrs. Jean S. Powell and Mrs. Margot W. Moll.

The bibliography owes much to the generous aid received from the administrations and staffs of several institutions. The cooperation of the Library of Congress; the National Archives; the Hoover Institute and Library; the Yiddish Scientific Institute (YIVO); the Centre de Documentation Juive Contemporaine; République Française, Présidence du Conseil, Comité d'Histoire de la Guerre; and the Netherlands State Institute for War-Documentation is gratefully acknowledged.

The willingness of the Air University to offer its publishing facilities for the printing of the Guide as War Documentation Project, (Research Memorandum Number 2, Vol. 1) has encouraged its preparation and is greatly appreciated.

General Introduction

At the end of World War II, documents of German Government agencies, military organizations, and political and private groups were scattered or destroyed in large numbers. No comprehensive survey of the surviving records and their location is available. No such survey is likely to be available for a long period of time. Little is known about the considerable quantity of German records which fell into the hands of Germany’s eastern enemies; and probably a far greater quantity of documents is presently kept in various classified collections of Western Powers. The great importance of the German documents for research purposes, however, makes it very desirable that a preliminary survey, at least of the unrestricted German materials to be found in certain American, Dutch, English, and French repositories, be made accessible to government agencies and private scholars.

The War Documentation Project has attempted to bring together printed as well as hitherto unpublished information on captured, non-technical German documents. Therefore, on the one hand, an effort has been made to compile listings of books and periodicals containing either the text of captured German documents, citations of such documents in footnotes, or information concerning the location of document holdings (Parts I and II). On the other hand, the War Documentation Project has prepared or secured detailed listings of the German documents in the most important depositories, particularly the Library of Congress (Part III).

In all the listings, materials used in the war crimes and collaborationist trials have been omitted. Furthermore, only holdings of unclassified depositories are listed. This means that all documents mentioned in Part III on depositories are accessible to the general public, subject only to the internal regulations of the various depositories.

In their policy of territorial expansion under the Hitler regime, the Germans systematically confiscated reign documentation of possible value for German intelligence work and propagandistic purposes. Since many of the documents captured by the Germans before and during World War II were destroyed or have again become inaccessible to historical research, for the convenience of scholars a tentative listing of German publications based on German temporary possession of these documents has been appended to the bibliography. The listing of these documents in the bibliography does not, of course, imply any judgment by the War Documentation Project as to their authenticity.

The bibliography should be regarded as a preliminary survey of such information as could be gathered within a relatively short period of time as a by-product of the principal task of the War Documentation Project. Under the circumstances, the preparation of an evenly analytical, detailed survey was impossible. The nature of the sources of some of the information and the differences in the manner and state of organization of the materials in the various depositories have resulted in a compilation which, unfortunately, is very uneven in its treatment of different aspects of the same subject. Supplementary and more accurate information is being sought, and it may be possible to issue corrections and additions. Recommendations by users for improvement of the Guide will be welcomed. The War Documentation Project will greatly appreciate receiving comments and suggestions and, particularly, more detailed information derived from research on holdings of the depositories covered by the Guide. Communications may be sent c/o Bureau of Applied Social Research, Columbia University, 427 West 117th Street, New York 27, N. Y.

Conceived solely as an aid to research, no other consideration than possible research value has determined the selection of references to hitherto unpublished documents or to publications containing information about captured German documents. It is hoped that the Guide will prove helpful to those whose research interests require use of German documents, and will stimulate greater utilization of important documentary materials which have hitherto been neglected.

Books
PART 1

Books

The following is a list of books, organized alphabetically by author, which contain or refer to captured German documents. For those books which are available in the Library of Congress, the Library of Congress call number has been added in parentheses after the entry. In a few cases, books in Dutch have been included without any descriptive information. Copies of these have not been available in Washington; they are taken from a list of publications containing German documents furnished by The Netherlands State Institute for War-Documentation, Amsterdam.

Bellemam, Th. Opdat wij niet vergeten. Kampen: Kok, 1961. Numerous German documents on the relationship between the Dutch churches and the German occupation authorities, particularly on the intervention of the churches on behalf of Dutch Jews. (BS 9474.D4)

Bouman, P. J. De April-Meis in het van 1943. The Hague: Nijhoff, 1950. Numerous German documents on the general strike in the Netherlands in April—May 1943 in protest against return to German captivity of former members of Dutch armed forces. Of particular interest are the detailed reports of the Beauftragte des Reichskommissars for the various Dutch provinces (Erftahrungsberichte uiber die Zeit des Ausnahmezustandes und des Polizeistreiks). (DJ 287B6)

Deutsches Auslands-Institut, Stuttgart. "List of newspapers, principally representative of German groups outside of Germany." This is a photostat of a card catalog prepared in English in 1946. Newspapers of the DA1, organized alphabetically by country — city — name of paper. (Z 5956.G3D45, 1946a)

Appendix 2—Scandinavian document publications relating to the German occupation of Denmark and Norway, 1940-1945

1. DENMARK

Denmark, Rigsdagen, Folketinget.

Vol. I. Beretning til Folketinget.

Vols. II and IV. Beretning til Folketinget.

Kobenhavn: J. H. Schultz, 1945. Report of the Danish Parliamentary Investigating Commission on the German occupation of Denmark, 1940-1945. Altogether nine vols. planned. Contains numerous German documents in both the original and Danish translations, some facsimiles. Almost all of these documents are communicatinons between the Danish Government and German occupation authorities or the German Foreign Office. (D768.D4A45)

2. NORWAY

Norway, Utenriksdepartement. Norges forhold til Sverige under krigen 1940-45.

Volume I contains 69 documents from German Foreign Office files on German-Swedish relations, April-June 1940; problems in German-Swedish relations arising out of the German occupation of Norway, particularly the question of transit of goods and men from Germany across Sweden to Norway, and the proposed neutralization of Narvik. (D784.N6A52)

Innsamling fra Utenriksdepartementet (1946).

3. SWEDEN

The above-mentioned bibliographical note in the Historische Zeitschrift mentions that in the series, Handlinger rovande Sveriges politik under andra världskriget (Stockholm, 1947), published by the Swedish Foreign Office, a number of German documents are cited or reproduced. The following titles have appeared:

1. Transiteringsfrågan Juni-December 1940 (1947). (D754.S8A5,1940a)

2. Transiteringsfrågor och demo'm sammanhängande sporreden April-Juni 1940 (1947). (D754.S8A5,1940a)

4. Frågor i samband med norrikes regeringens vistelse utanfor Norge 1940-1943 (1248). (D754.S8A5)

Note: W. Hubatsch is quite critical of the presentation and selection of captured German documents in all of these Scandinavian document publications, particularly in regard to identification and editing. See also Hubatsch's article, “Die Skandinavischen Weisbuicher,” in Aussenpolitik, vol. 1, No. 2 (1951), 117-25.
PART II

Periodicals
PART I

Periodicals

This is a compilation of information on captured German documents found in various periodicals. The War Documentation Project does not vouch for the accuracy of statements in these periodicals. Information on related groups of documents scattered among the various periodicals, can be pulled together through the use of the index.

Egon Merker, "Ehemalige deutsche Reichs-Archive." Brief listing of the fate of various large German archives.

The remainder of the archives of the Geheime Staatsarchiv, Berlin-Dahlem, is now in the Berliner Hauptarchiv, in Western Berlin. It includes:
Reichsfinanzenministerium, almost complete;
Reichswirtschaftsministerium, some;
Reichsministerium fuer Wissenschaft, Erziehung, und Volksbildung, some;
Reichsministerium fuer Kirchliche Angelegenheiten, some;
Volkserziehungshof, some;
Reichskulturkammer, some.
The author states that there is almost no information on the fate of the former Heeresarchiv Wien. Some of the collection is believed to be in Russian hands; much was lost in the war.
The Russians obtained large parts of the files of the Reichspresseministerium, including the "Schnelfdienst" which contained many of the most important files. The Russians are also supposed to have the files of the Reichspressekammer.
The Zentralarchiv der Deutschen Demokratischen Republik (Soviet Zone) in Potsdam has the files of the Deutsche Volkspartei, Deutschnationale Volkspartei, and the Stahlhelm.
The archives of the Sozialdemokratische Partei Deutschlands (SPD) and of the Marx-Engels-Archiv are in the International Institute for Social History, Amsterdam.

Lost in the war were the general map collection, the collection of seals, the land record of Mark Brandenburg, and other older materials.
Captured by the Poles and apparently taken away were the holdings of the library.
The bulk of the records (three-fifths of the State Archives — 150,000 bundles) was stored in two salt mines in Stassfurt and Schoenebeck near Magdeburg in the Russian Zone.
Ten thousand packages were stored in an anti-aircraft tower in the Soviet sector of Berlin.

Stored in the mines also were the collections of material, working papers, and other manuscripts of the:
1. Institut fuer Archivalische Wissenschaft,
3. Hansischer Geschichtverein.
5. Institut fuer Heimatforschung der Universitaet Berlin (Schniedemushi), and apparently some others.

Prague and are now kept in the Czechoslovak Ministry of the Interior.
3. Also seized by the Czechoslovakian Government were German plans for the "Ausseildung" of the Czech popularion to Russia.
4. A special search team of the Prague
National Library seized large holdings of books confiscated by the SS from Jewish communities, etc.
5. In Kuttenberg, CSR, a \"Historisch-geographisches Institut\" of the SS was located whose files were apparently evacuated to Germany shortly before the end of the war and thus far have not been found.
6. Most of the archives seized by the Germans in the Ukraine, White Rusas, and the Baltic States were taken to Troppau, CSR. There they were partly lost while other parts were recovered by the Czech Government and presumably returned to their places of origin.

In addition to the vast archive from Dachau, the Commission possesses nearly 2,000 assorted documents of Jewish as well as Nazi origin, relating to life under the Nazis. They have also films: five depicting German entry into Poland, and an anti-Semitic hate film. Twenty-eight thousand Nazi documents filmed, mainly concerned with looted Jewish property. Also have most of the archives of the Jewish community of Franken (the Franken district of Bavaria) dating back to the 17th century.
PART III

Depositories
PART III

Depositories

The material in the following list is not classified. The listings have, to a very large extent, been prepared by members of the staff of the War Documentation Project. Some of the identifications are still tentative and it is hoped that researchers making use of the materials will give additional information on them to the War Documentation Project as well as to the depository in which the material is located.

Anyone interested in using the documents listed here, or in securing photostats or microfilms, should communicate directly with the depository, not with the War Documentation Project.
ASIDE from an extensive collection of material from the Nuremberg Trials, the Centre has holdings of the following groups of German documents:

1. The Rosenberg files. A collection of documents from the files of Alfred Rosenberg; including material from the NSDAP, Institut zur Erforschung der Judenfrage; Reichsministerium fuer die besetzten Ostgebiete; and Beauftragter des Fuehrers fuer die Uberwachung der gesamten geistigen und weltanschaulichen Erziehung der NSDAP.

3. Auswaertiges Amt. A group of documents from the German legation in Hungary (papers of Veesenmayer).

5. Gestapo. Documents from the office of the Gestapo in France.

The Centre sponsors the publication Le Monde Juif (see under Part II) in which the texts of some of its documents have been published.

The Centre is also the sponsor of a number of books and monographs. Those containing captured documents are included in Part I of this bibliography (Editions du Centre). Note: For additional information on the character, organization, and indexing of the archives of the Centre, see Centre de Documentation Juive Contemporaine, Sur les Chantiers de Nos Archives (Paris, 1951), 15 pp.
HOOVER INSTITUTE AND LIBRARY

The Hoover Institute collection of German materials consists of the units listed below. (It is strongly recommended that in each case inquiry be made in advance whether or not the materials are sufficiently processed and thus available for historical research):

1. The Himmler files
   Reichsfluehrer: SS, Personalstelle Schrifttumsverwaltung. Parts of the Himmler files on photographs, organized according to the original system of the Personalstelle Stab. Detailed information on these files will be found in Appendix 1. It should be noted that the subject index to the Himmler files in the Hoover Library refers only to specific items of interest and was prepared by the Hoover Library staff. The list of Himmler files in the Library of Congress, Manuscript Division, (q.v.), refers to the general subject matter of each folder and was prepared by the WDP.

Hoover Library
Explanatory Note and Inventory of Collection of Files
Germany — NSDAP, Gauleitung Berlin
This collection consists of five folders of miscellaneous material, which was organized in the following manner:
1. Files of the Office of “Der Mobilisationsbeauftragte” (Petzold) in the Berlin Gauleitung; the covers of the period 1933-1941 are quite complete. They contain a probably complete collection of secret circulars and ordinances of the Chief of the Mobilisation Office (Division “24”) of the NSDAP under Rudolf Hess’ leadership. The files in this collection are in two folders marked “Part II.”
2. Files of the Stennes case contain a copious documentation of the defection in the Berlin SA in 1931 under the leadership of Captain Stennes, and the purge in the NSDAP which followed the incident.
3. The folder Gau-Organisationsamt Berlin, Hauptstelle Statistik: Statistik der NSDAP of July 1, 1939 contains a complete collection of ordinances concerning the party census in 1939 (Parteistatistische Erhebung).
4. The folder Miscellaneous contains scattered files of various offices in the Berlin Gauleitung for the period 1939-1941.

Appendix 3

Chapter 3

THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

The holdings of captured German materials deposited in the Library of Congress are very extensive. They are therefore listed in separate sections according to custodial division. Regulations and procedures for access to the materials should be obtained from the division under which they are listed.

Section I. Quarterly Journal of Current Acquisitions (This periodical is published by the Library of Congress and gives information concerning its holdings)

Section II. Captured German materials accessioned into the main collection of the Library of Congress.

Section III. The Film Division.

Section IV. Map Division.

Section V. Microfilm Section.

Section VI. Aeronautics Division.

Section VII. Rare Books Division.

Section VIII. Prints and Photographs Division.

Section IX. Music Division.

Section X. Newspaper Division: Materials placed on deposit with the Government Documents Section of the LC by the U.S. Department of Commerce and serviced by the Newspaper Division.

Section XI. Manuscripts Division.

Section XII. Exchange and Gift Division.

Section I

Library of Congress: Quarterly Journal of Current Acquisitions (288 L6, Q8)

Vol. 3 (1945-46), No. 4, pp. 7-8.

Lederer, Max. "The Deutsche Auslands-Institut." On the transfer of its archives to the Library of Congress after seizure by the United States Army in Stuttgart. Includes bibliographies and documents of Nazi Party publications, including "confidential" and "secret" circulars; Party publications for "internal use only." See Manuscripts Division, Appendix I.

Vol. 8 (1945-46), No. 4, pp. 41-42.

Eells, Richard. "Aeronautical Science." Captured German air documents will go eventually to the Library of Congress after processing at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio; include 220 tons of documents. Other air documents coming through the CIOS (Combined Intelligence Objectives Subcommittee), BIOS (British Intelligence Objectives Subcommittee), and FIAT (Field Information Agency, Technical); and also the Himmler Files.

Vol. 4 (1946-47), No. 4, p. 44.

Library of Congress received 26,884 reels of impounded or captured German films through the War Department; war training films, newreels, general documentaries, photoplays.

Library of Congress to be final depository of all captured, declassified aeronautical literature received from FIAT and Wright Field.

Confiscated libraries in the Library of Congress. The Aeronautics Division of the Library of Congress has received sections of the libraries of the following:

Junkers and Focke-Wulf factories.
Deutsche Akademie fuer Luftfahrtforschung.
Deutsche Forschungsanstalt fuer Segelflug.
Reichsluftfahrtministerium.

Vol. 4 (1946-47), No. 4, p. 60.

"Several thousand German reproductions of Russian and Norwegian charts" transferred to Map Division, Library of Congress.

Vol. 4 (1946-47), No. 4, pp. 63.

Further details on air materials transferred, or to be transferred, to the Library of Congress via CIOS, BIOS, and FIAT.

Vol. 6 (1948-49), No. 2, p. 20.

The Library of Congress has received some more captured German films from the Department of the Army.

Vol. 5 (1947-48), No. 4, pp. 21-22.

Aeronautics article, by R. Eells and staff, further discussion of the Wright Field documents.

Vol. 6 (1948-49), No. 1, pp. 21-22.

Stuurman, Douwe. "The Nazi Collection," concerns the activities of the Library of Congress Mission to Germany. The article was a preview of what was to be sent to the library. According to Mr. Obear, of the Library of Congress staff, most of the documents listed in this article failed to reach the Library of Congress; they have not been located yet. The documents include:

Nazi Party Archives
Police Records
Party Materials
Newspapers
Chancellory Records
Master recordings of Nazi speeches (Cf. Section IX).

GUIDE TO CAPTURED GERMAN DOCUMENTS—DEPOSITORIES

Vol. 6 (1948-49), No. 1, pp. 88-89.

(a) Library of Congress has acquired an extensive collection of prints and photographs containing Hermann Goering’s collection, 1938-1942.

(b) Photo reports of the Daimler-Benz auto firm, 45 albums of 1940.

(c) 78,000 negatives from the files of a freelance photographer of Stuttgart, Wolf Streich.

For more details, see under holdings of the Prints and Photographs Division of the Library of Congress.

Vol. 6 (1948-49), No. 4, pp. 21-27.

Vanderbilt, Paul. "Prints and Photographs of Nazi Origin."

A survey of many thousands of pictures captured in Germany and now in the Prints and Photographs Division of the Library of Congress—each lot entered and described on one card.

For more details, see under holdings of the Prints and Photographs Division of the Library of Congress.

Vol. 6 (1948-49), No. 4, pp. 44-49.

Library of Congress gets the von Rohden Collection. The collection consists mainly of German Air Force and other German official records. In addition, there are manuscripts of members of the von Rohden family, some of which were captured after the war on the history of the air war. Part of the original collection is in London and part at Maxwell Field. For further information see under the Aeronautics Division of the Library of Congress.

Section II—Main Collection

Sections of certain captured libraries have been accessioned directly into the main library holdings and can be located through the main catalog. These include books selected from the libraries of Gerdy Troost, Frank. Himmler, and possibly Goebbels. Some parts of the Bibliothek der Wissenschaften zur Erforschung der Deutschen Frage have been accessioned, one item is in the Manuscripts Division. Books supplementing Library of Congress holdings from the library of Wehrkreiskommando XII have been accessioned; a list exists of the material originally in this library.

In addition, a large number of individual captured German items, classified by the Germans, have been accessioned into the main collection. These can be located only through the card catalog, particularly under the names of various German government agencies and military offices and units. For publications of various German government agencies concerning the occupied eastern territories between 1941 and 1945 look under the following entries:

1. Germany, Reichsministerium des Innern, Publikationstelle Berlin-Dahlem; also Publikationstelle Ost.

2. Reichsministerium fuer die besetzten Ostgebiete.

Section III—Film Division

(Care of Mr. James H. Culver, Custodian of the Motion Picture Collection, in the microfilm reading room.)

The library’s holdings can be divided into the following four groups:

1. Enemy alien films impounded by the United States at the outbreak of war. Under control of Allen Property Custodian.

2. German feature films, cultural subjects, amusement films, newsreels, and similar material.

3. German military training films, 35 mm. There is a great deal of duplication. This is the only part of an immense collection on which indexing work has been done. A listing is in the library.

4. About 100 cases of unclosed 16 mm film.

See also Section I.

Section IV—Map Division

Germany, Beauftragter fuer den Vierjahresplan.

"Goering’s Atlas," Berlin, 1946. 33 colored maps. Maps outlining the raw material resources and industrial plants of primary importance to German war efforts, prepared by the Office of the Delegate for the Four Year Plan in the spring of 1944 on the basis of information for 1942 and 1943. The maps were put together in their present form by the American occupation authorities.

See also Section I.

Section V—Microfilm Section

There is no separate listing or guide to show what captured German material is here. A search of the card catalog under "Germany" revealed one film: No. 1323. Aside from clippings about July 20, 1944 and anti-Nazi pamphlets and letters, it contains a copy of a paper entitled:

"Abteilung fuer Militarpolitik," September 1937. This seems to be a military intelligence report on a branch of the German Communist Party (KPD) of the above name. Mainly Weimar period.

The Microfilm Section has a six-reel microfilm copy of the Goebbels Diary for 1942-1943 in the Hoover Institute and Library.

Section VI—Aeronautics Division

The holdings can be divided into three parts:

1. The von Rohden collection.
   The originals of the von Rohden collection are partly in London and partly at Maxwell Air Force Base. The Aeronautics Division has a large part of the total collection on microfilm. The material covers all aspects of the Second World War and includes diplomatic as well as purely military and political material. An inventory of the LC microfilms which gives an inventory number and a very brief description of each item is kept in the office of Mr. Marvin W. McFarland, consultant to the chief of the Division.

2. Books and periodicals.
   A considerable number of books and a large number of periodicals, largely for the war years, are in the stacks of the Aeronautics Division.

3. Unprocessed documents and materials from Wright Field. This is a very large mass of material, most of it of a technical nature and including some books. A part of the technical material is organized by type of plane, like Messerschmidt. There are intelligence reports on planes of various countries. All the important Allies are included. There are also:
   - Reichsluftfahrtministerium, statistical files.
   - Reichswehrministerium, Heereswaffennamen, 1918-1919, three folders.

Section VII—Rare Books Division

The Rare Books Division has the following materials, mostly in unprocessed and uncataloged form. The material is, however, shelved.

1. Hitler Library (in two parts, one called the Reichskanzlei library). Several hundred books, folios, and photograph albums from the Hitler library. Many books on art and architecture, mostly complimentary copies, the rest on a variety of current topics. Cataloging of these books has been started.

2. Eva Braun Library. Most of these books, which supposedly belonged to Eva Braun, are ascribed to her by mistake, as evidenced by various library stamps in them.

3. Literature, photographs, and photostats dedicated to Hitler.

4. Fine bindings and other items such as folios and a book register from the library of Hermann Goering.

5. Some folios entitled Fuehrerankaufe, apparently pictures and other items purchased for Hitler.

6. A number of special books, presentation volumes etc. from the Constantin von Neurath Collection.

7. A collection of posters, leaflets etc. from the Rehse-Archiv (Hauptarchiv der NSDAP).

8. There are a few miscellaneous items, including a presentation volume from the library of Heinrich Himmler.

9. Included with the Hitler library, but possibly not a part of it, is a set of "Die Alte Garde spricht." - a series of typed autobiographies of Nazi Party members, organized by Gau and bound into several volumes.

10. Small groups from the libraries of Streicher, Frank, Schwartz, Strasser.

Section VIII—Prints and Photographs Division

The Prints and Photographs Division has a very large number of items captured in Germany such as...
GUIDE TO CAPTURED GERMAN DOCUMENTS—REPOSITORIES

Parts of the Reihen collection.
Photograph collection of Hermann Goe-ring.
Items from the Deutsche Arbeitsfront.
Photographs and pictures of and about the Hitler Youth, army, air force, Kraft durch Freude, NSDAP Volkswohlfahrt, etc.

All items or groups of items have been given numbers and cards for each number, and inserted into a subject catalog (see under Germany) and a numerical catalog. The German materials are scattered through the numerical sequence.

A very useful guide is being published: "Selective Checklist of Prints and Photographs recently cataloged and made available for reference."

Three issues have appeared, Lots 2980-2984, 2985-3412, and 2443-4120. A fourth issue is in preparation. The highest number of a captured German lot in the numerical catalog is now No. 5774, but most of the important material will have been covered when the next issue appears. The cards in the division give slightly more complete information about each lot than the checklist. See also Section I.

The following excerpts from some of the lot numbers listed in the checklist of the Prints and Photographs Division will illustrate the nature of the holdings of this division and its potential for the historian. Lots have been chosen because of their importance, originality, or representative character. This is not a complete list. All lots are referred to and cataloged by number, and more information about each lot can be obtained from the card catalog of the division.

Section XI—Manuscripts Division

The following is a list of the units which constitute the German holdings of the Manuscripts Division. To a considerable extent these collections have not yet been finally organized, nor do they include all of the material, eventually to be deposited there. The materials listed here are, nevertheless, now accessible in the Division. For ready location of individual documents, careful attention to the various numbers given for each group is absolutely essential.

1. The Deutsches Auslands-Institut Collection. This is a collection of large sections of the files of the Deutsches Auslands-Institut, Stuttgart. A detailed list has been prepared as Appendix 1. Further materials are being added to this collection. The Non-DAI materials are to be removed and integrated into other units where this is possible. In other cases separate units may have to be established.

2. The German Submarine Collection. This is a collection of German submarine log books together with some other items, particularly material on German-Japanese technical cooperation during World War II. See Appendix 2.

3. The Himmler Files. Reichsfuhrer SS, Personlicher Stab. Schriftverwaltung. Large parts of the Himmler files in photostat form have been organized according to the original file system of the Personliche Stab. A few other items have been placed with this collection. A listing of the individual Himmler files is included in Appendix 3, together with the other items.

4. The Rehse Collection. The Library of Congress has received large sections of the historical archives of the Nazi Party contained in the combined Rehse Archiv-Hauptarchiv der NSDAP. Materials already processed in the Manuscripts Division are listed in Appendix 4.

5. The Adolf Hitler Collection. A group of items of or concerning Adolf Hitler. A detailed list will be found in Appendix 5.

6. The Eher Verlag Collection. A few items from the files of the Eher Verlag, the

8. Miscellaneous items from the Government of the Third Reich. A number of individual items captured in Germany has been put together under this heading. See Appendix 8.

9. Reichsstudentenfuhrung. Under this title, the library has organized the papers of two officials of the Reichsstudentenfuhrung. See Appendix 9.

11. Miscellaneous German Army Material. A group of individual items of or connected with the German Army. See Appendix 11.

12. Miscellaneous German Navy Material. Various German Navy items other than those grouped in the Submarine Collection (No. 8). See Appendix 12.

15. Very Old German and Polish Material. See Appendix 15.

16. Miscellaneous Old Manuscripts, partly unidentified. See Appendix 16.

18. Wholly Miscellaneous. See Appendix 18.

21. Ohnesorge Material. Twenty-three binders of personal correspondence, 1916-43. Also a few other private items. To be added to this: Ohnesorge material including material on the Reichspostministerium in World War I. Various other personal items illustrating Ohnesorge's career as Reichspostminister. 52-162, 52-179. The photographs from this collection are listed under Prints and Photograph Division, Item 9450 (see above, Section VII).

22. Dachau SS Court. Three boxes of a card file of the SS Court at Prien.

2. Parchment award. 9342.

24. The Fritz Wiedemann Papers. Five shelves of correspondence folders and boxed miscellaneous material. Mostly personal and business matters. The two folders labeled "Halifax" contain clippings. The "Hohenlohe" folder contains clippings and carbons of small personal items, for the most part. Some material on the suit of Princess Hohenlohe against Lord Rothermere. The most interesting material, much of it political, is in the box labeled "Private Papers." This box includes documents on Wiedemann's mission to London in July, 1938, and some memoir material. 9487.

25. Gerdy Troost. A very large collection of material from the Atelier Gerdy Troost. A great deal of material on the construction and designing of various Nazi buildings; personal and financial papers, correspondence, drawings, etc. 9491, 52-10.

26. German Consulate Yokohama. Two boxes of financial and marriage records of the German consulate in Yokohama. 9462.

27. Allgemeiner Deutscher Gewerkschaftsbund. Two correspondence folders of the Vorstand of the Allgemeiner Deutscher Gewerkschaftsbund (German Trade Union Federation), 1223-32, 52-176.

Section XII—Exchange and Gift Division

Of the four Wehrkreis libraries which came to the Library—IV, VII, XII, XIII—two and parts of a third are still in crates in the care of this section.

Also there is a very large number of crates of material from the Rehse collection, contents unknown. One group of 20 crates has been opened. For contents see Appendix 1. The manuscript material in this has been transferred to the Manuscript Division.

There is a very large collection of press clippings, mostly still in crates. The bulk of this material probably comes from the Archiv der NSDAP. There are also smaller collections of newspaper clippings from such places as the Adolf Hitler-Schule.

There are apparently also some other materials in the custody of this section, including parts of several German libraries, pre-World War I military records, and the library of Alfred Rosenberg.

All of this material is unregistered and unlisted. It is kept in the stacks of the annex.

Appendix I

The 20 crates which have been opened
I. POSTERS AND LEAFLETS

The overwhelming bulk of the material in the crates opened consists of posters and leaflets. Some, perhaps a quarter to a third of the total, are in well-defined and labeled units. From a third to half of the posters were found in groups of a fairly well-related nature. The rest were found disorganized (or had never been organized). The main period covered is from the beginning of World War I into the later years of World War II. The majority of the items are in German, but there are large numbers in Russian, Czech, French, Polish, and English, a few in Spanish, Dutch, and Hungarian, and a considerable number with parallel texts in German and one other language. The following groups of material, each of which consists of a sizable amount, are representative:

1. Posters and leaflets illustrating the rise of the Nazi Party from its beginnings to 1933.
2. Posters and leaflets concerning the history of World War I, e.g. mobilization, war loans (German, American, French, Russian), military occupation, recruitment (all major powers).
3. Revolution in Germany — the various disturbances in Germany from 1918 to 1923, including the activities of the Soldiers and Workers Councils, the communists (Communists), the various revolutions and counter-revolutions (e.g. Communist government in Bavaria, Kapp reactionary uprising in Berlin), the elections for the Weimar Constituent Assembly, etc.
5. Posters, leaflets, etc. of all German political parties and associations — Communist, Socialist, Clerical, Nationalist, etc. of the Weimar period.
7. Posters and leaflets illustrating the history of Austria-Hungary in World War II.
8. Posters and leaflets of the various political parties in Austria, 1918-38.
9. Posters and leaflets, as well as other materials, of the German parties in Czechoslovakia, particularly the Sudeten German Party of Henlein and the Communist Party, as well as of various Czech parties.
10. A group of Spanish Falangist materials from the Spanish Civil War.
11. Posters and leaflets from World War II, including:
   a. Announcements and decrees in territories occupied by the Germans (a large group, partly printed, partly mimeographed, often bilingual).
   b. German propaganda and recruitment posters put up in the occupied territories, a number of them in Russian.
   c. Posters captured by the Germans, particularly in Russia.
12. A considerable number of commercial posters, particularly advertisements for cigarettes, fashions, and travel.

II. MAPS

A considerable number of maps, a large proportion in German. There is a group of operational maps from World War I. Of special interest is a group of captured Russian and Polish maps illustrating the campaigns of the Civil War, 1918-22.

III. CHARTS

There is a large number of charts of various kinds. They include architectural drawings and instructional charts. An example of the first would be some plans for the reconstruction of Berlin according to suggestions made by Hitler. A wall chart of the Nuremberg racial laws will illustrate the second.

IV. AIR PHOTOS

A few composite maps made out of photographs taken by reconnaissance planes and balloons in World War I have been grouped together.

V. RUSSIAN BULLETIN BOARDS

There is a group of Soviet bulletin boards, containing pictures, slogans, bulletins, etc., which were presumably taken by the Germans from captured Soviet factories.

VI. MANUSCRIPTS (now in the Manuscript Division)
The manuscript material can be grouped into two parts. There is almost a grateful store of files of the official German monitoring agency (Sonderdienst Seehaus) consisting of files of monitored broadcasts and newspapers.

There is a group of miscellaneous items including files of material of and concerning the Czech presidents Masaryk and Beneš.

VII. NEWSPAPERS
There is a considerable pile of complete newspapers, mostly German.

VIII. NEWSPAPER CLIPPINGS
Many of the clippings are unfortunately loose, though mounted. A good proportion is either in folders or in binders on specific subjects.

IX. PRINTS AND PHOTOGRAPHS
Some loose and unorganized. A large number in unified lots, such as a group of pictures on American occupation forces in the Rhineland after World War I.

X. MIXED
A considerable number of folders contain materials of various kinds on one subject. These include some of the most important materials in this collection. There are folders on various Communist parties and a very important collection of materials on the Kapp uprising of 1920. These folders may be kept as a unit along with one division of the library.

XI. MUSIC
There are a couple of musical items.

XII. MISCELLANEOUS PROGRAMS
A large amount of miscellaneous material, consisting mainly of two groups of material:

a. Programs of performances in the Government General (German-occupied Poland);

b. Programs, special newspapers, etc., from and about carnivals (this is the bulk of this group).

XIII. PAINTINGS
A group of paintings seized by the Germans in Russia.

XIV. COINS
There are six German coins (turned over to the Smithsonian Institution).

XV. LAWS AND DECREES
There is a small group of serials of legal decrees, etc.

XVI. BOOKS AND PERIODICALS
All the books, pamphlets, and periodicals have been grouped together.
Chapter 4

NATIONAL ARCHIVES OF THE UNITED STATES

The captured German documents in the National Archives will be found in the following Record Groups:

1. Record Group 242: World War II Collection of Seized Enemy Records. The German material in this Record Group consists of two main sections. First, there are pieces of the Heeresarchiv Potsdam. For these the War Records Section of the National Archives has both some listings of its own and the original German deposit records. In Appendix 1, this material is listed by the name of the German under which the material is grouped with the amount of material for each name indicated. In the second place, there is a group of miscellaneous materials. These are listed in some detail in Appendix 1, as no comprehensive listing has been prepared by the National Archives for this section.

3. Records of the German Foreign Ministry. The microfilm copy of German Foreign Ministry records, received from the Department of State, can be briefly described as consisting of 178 rolls of 35 mm. positive microfilm, dating from June 1914 to October 1918. Continuous files in the Archives of the German Foreign Ministry are covered by several "serials" (film jobs). Each serial (except those in the 1917-1925 group, see Appendix 4), is spread over several containers. The microfilms transferred to the National Archives can be identified as follows:

1. "World War": 279 vols.; see Appendix 8.
4. Mediation; peace moves and tendencies: 67 vols.; see Appendix 5.
5. Mediation; peace moves and tendencies: 54 vols.; see Appendix 7.
6. Outbreak of war: One vol.; see Appendix 8.
7. United States, Two vols.; see Appendix 9.

Appendix B

Record Group 243: Records and materials of the United States Strategic Bombing Survey for Europe.

This material is for the most part now unclassified. A comprehensive catalog of the collection exists and is now unclassified: The United States Strategic Bombing Survey, Index to Records of the United States Strategic Bombing Survey; June 1947, 317 pp. The collection in the National Archives is organized according to the listings in this index. The part of the collection which contains captured German documents of a non-technical nature is that of Section 84b - The Morale Division. Excerpts from the catalog listings for this part of the collection are added. There are also a few items in the records of the Military Analysis Division.

NETHERLANDS STATE INSTITUTE FOR WAR-DOCUMENTATION AMSTERDAM
YIDDISH SCIENTIFIC INSTITUTE—YIVO (NEW YORK)

I. Hauptamt Wissenschaft. (G 233-238.)

Amt Wissenschaftsbeobachtung und -Wertung in the office of Alfred Rosenberg as "Beauftragter des Fuehrers fuer die Uberwachung der gesamten geistigen und wissenschaftlichen Schulung der NSDAP."

This collection, the only complete one in the YIVO, is separated from the main collection (Ministry of Propaganda.) It has not been cataloged at all. It consists of about 12 folders, each containing about 300 pages. The folders and documents are in alphabetical order according to names of academic personnel, teachers, researchers, writers, etc.

Three separate folders contain documents pertaining to particular universities, scientific institutions, and academic conferences. The file containing the documents beginning with letter "A" is missing at the time of this report.

While most of the file in the alphabetical folders of the HA.W consists of correspondence up to 20 pages, two files are outstanding by their mere quantity of pages, several hundred each, and by the degree of actual research that has gone into the preparation of the two files. The first is on the poet Stefan George and his circle, the second on Ludwig Klages and his followers.

II. The collection of documents of the Reich Ministry for Propaganda.

The collection of captured German documents in YIVO, besides the special collection "Hauptamt Wissenschaft", consists of about 70 folders. It has been cataloged by a member of the Institute.

The documents seem to stem mainly from the archives of the German Ministerium fuer Volksaufklarung und Propaganda, the Goebbels Ministry. None of the special collections is complete. On some territories of eastern Europe, e.g., the Baltic States, more material is to be found than on Hungary or Bulgaria.

III. A volume, formerly the property of Kurt Daluege, entitled "FIRE in the Reichstag Building, a collection of photographs." It contains eight different photographs of the "Guilty Man," van der Lubbe. 21 pictures of the halls in the Reichstag Building, showing damage and destruction due to the fire, four views of the hall where plenary sessions were held, and a series of other photographs, chiefly of objects found on van der Lubbe's person.

IV. A Reichssicherheitshauptamt (RSHA) file, containing the assassination of the Deputy Reich Governor Reinhard Heydrich in Prague. This contains two volumes, with four sketches and 49 photographs showing a reconstruction of the crime, objects found, as well as photographs of the criminals and their alleged accomplices. In addition, there is a final report with six supplementary files on the activities of parachutists trained in England and on the measures taken to elucidate the crime. These concern short-wave messages by the parachutists, administrative and penal measures, use of the regular police, and reprisals against the town of Lidice. The file also contains verdicts of the military courts in Prague and Brno, also reports on the reaction of the Czech radio in London and the effect of these measures on the Czech population.

V. Eighty-two files containing newspaper clippings about Goebbels that appeared between 1931 and 1943. The files were kept by Goebbels himself and arranged according to periods and events.

VI. Documents relating to the withdrawal of citizenship from certain German subjects.

VII. Three secret, mimeographed, memoranda from the Statistische Reichsamt:

1. Die Entwicklung der Kriminalitaet im Deutschen Reich vom Kriegsbeginn bis Mitte 1943.

(German criminality statistics have been published in Wirtschaft und Statistik only up to June 30, 1940.)

VIII. Reichsministerium des Innern. Der Sachverstandige fuer Rassenforschung (Expert for Racial Research, Reich Ministry of the Interior). One thousand seven hundred forty genealogical reports which mostly concern the descendants of the inter-related families of Mendelssohn and Itzig (Hitzig), and were probably collected with a view to bringing the family tree of the Mendelssohns up to date.

(Note: Items III-VI and VIII are excerpted from an article by Bruno Blau, in Wiener Library Bulletin, Vol. V (1951), No. 1-2, pp. 9).

PUBLICATIONS OF DOCUMENTS CAPTURED BY THE GERMANS
INFORMATION ON DOCUMENTS CAPTURED BY THE GERMANS BEFORE OR DURING WORLD WAR II.

Captured documents published by the Germans in the Monatshefte fuer Auswaertige Politik:

Werner Freundt, "Ein ungehoelter Warnung." Memoranda and letters of the pro-German Polish Professor Studnicki to Polish
Foreign Minister Beck, 1939. Text and commentary.
Vol. VII (1940), 104-3.
"Ein tschechisches Geheimdokument uber die franzoesische Aussenpolitik." Part of a commentary on a report of Czech Ambassador to Paris Ousky of 25 Nov. 1938.
Vol. IX (1942), 555-60.
Friedrich Berber, "Zur Englishe Vorkriegsgeschichte." Three memos from the Czech archives reporting on talks with British statesmen, 1938.
Vol. X. (1943), 423-38.
Hans Uebersberger, "Das entscheidende Ak-tenzuge zur Kriegsgeschuldfrage, 1914." Document, presumably captured in the Yugoslav archives, allegedly indicates that Dimitrije-vit, head of the Black Hand, was encouraged by the Russian Military Attaché in Belgrade, Colonel Artamonov, to organize the plot to assassinate the Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria and that Russia would back Serbia in case of a conflict with Austria (all this is not in the document).
Vol. X (1943), 688-70.
"Das wahre Geist des Bolschewismus. Ge-heimberichte des tschechischen Gesandten in Moskau und des tschechischen Generalkon-suls in Kiew aus den Jahren 1931-37." The text of a number of Czech documents, one from 1936, one from 1938, and the rest from 1938 and 1937, some in full, some excerpted.

The following are titles of articles which appeared in the Leipziger Neueste Nachrichten and which probably contained reprints of documents captured by the Germans. The newspaper is not available in the United States for the years listed.
"Sensational polnische Geheimdokumente,"
March 31, 1940.
"Polendokumente klaaren," April 2, 1940.
"In Oslo gefundene Dokumente des Norwe-gischen Aussenministeriums," May 3, schrift) June 6, 1940.

"Dokmente nagen die Schuld der Westmaechte fest," June 29, 1940.
"Geheimakten Gamalins erbeutet," July 4, 5, 6, 7, 9, 11, 12, 16, and 24, 1940.
"Zwei Dokumente aus den in La Charté erbeuteten Geheimakten des franzoesischen Generalstabs," January 1, 1941.
"Enlverung der Friedensstoerer auf den Balkan," (144 Dokumente) June 19, 1941.
"Erbeuteter Geheimbefahl Stalins," August 10, 1942.
"Neues Dokument fuer die gegnerische Kriegsduch," (Dok. Nr. 1788 W.O.B.

INDEX

For the use of the index the following points should be kept in mind: The nature of the material covered by the Guide makes exhaustive subject indexing impossible. Thus, for instance, the Reihen-Archiv is a general source on many aspects of German and Nazi Party history, the Auswärtiges Amt for German foreign relations, and the Himmler Files for the organization and wide range of activities of the SS. It is essential that researchers interested in specific subjects look not only under the subject headings, but also under the names of those agencies whose files may contain relevant information.

Geographical terms are used in their English version. For German government and party agencies the official German title is used, regardless of the form to be found in the text. All German government agencies are listed alphabetically, while those of the Nazi Party are grouped under the Party's German name. Under the heading "Germany," a detailed listing of German governmental, political, industrial, and private organizations has been compiled in order to provide a general survey of most of the material covered by the index.

The index is largely the work of Roger W. Nelson and Ralph Mavrogordato.
