   LTC Avery S. Fullerton

7. (C) Supporting Forces
   a. Air Support

      General: Tactical fighter bombers from the 7th tactical Air Force were used to support 2d Bde operations. The 510th, 90th, 531st, 416th, 309th, 306th, 308th, 614th, 612th, and the 615th tactical fighter squadrons and the 8th and 18th tactical fighter bombers flew a total of data preplanned missions throughout the Brigade area of operations. 101 immediate airstrikes were delivered to suppress VC in contact with US forces.

DOWNGRADED AT 2 YEAR INTERVALS;
DECLASSIFIED AFTER 12 YEARS
DOD DTC 5200.10
b. Army Aviation Support

The four organic OH-23's were used on a daily basis by the infantry battalions for command and control, liaison, and reconnaissance missions. During the period the four aircraft flew a total of 1996 hours consisting of 3712 tasks, 6793 sorties and 6944 passengers carried.

The 25th Aviation Battalion provided a UH-ID command and control ship to the Brigade commander and a General Support UH-ID to the brigade on a daily basis. The Brigade Commander used the C&C extensively for controlling multi-battalion combat assaults, making command visits, and observing tactical operations. The G/S ship conducted resupply, moved personnel, preformed leaflet drop and loudspeaker missions, supported Medevac operations, and provided a backup for the organizational OH23.

The Brigade utilized one or more assault helicopter companies on 156 of the 209 days duration of operation KOLEKOLE. The helicopter companies normally furnished by the 269th Combat Aviation Battalion, were used primarily to conduct combat assaults and eagle flights. Battalions assigned to the brigade landed troops in 393 initial landing zones & 265 subsequent landing zones. 89% of the total 797 VC body count achieved were accounted for as a direct result of the use of the assault helicopters and gunships.

CH 47's allocated daily by IIFPV resupplied the battalions during operation KOLEKOLE. An average of 30 sorties per day were used by the brigade. Each time a battalion base camp was moved, if the tactical situation permitted, the bulk of the equipment and personnel were moved by CH 47's. General resupply and movement of troops were accomplished rapidly and on a timely basis.

Evidenced by the percentage of the overall body count attained through the use of helicopter support, the employment of Army aviation assets greatly improved the effectiveness of the brigade.
C. Artillery Support

(1) Units

(a) Direct Support

1st Battalion 12th Artillery fired in direct support of the 2d Bde., 25th Infantry Division.

(b) General Support

3d Battalion 13 Artillery (155/20)
6th Battalion 77th Artillery (105)

(2) Artillery was employed in the operation to provide:

- Suppression of sniper fire
- Destruction of attacking enemy forces (Direct Fire)
- Landing zone preparations
- Suppressive fires
- R&S fires
- Counter - mortar fires
- Smoke and screening fires
- Marking rounds for locations
- Illumination

(3) Fired in support of 2d Brigade operations and for Vietnamese units within the Drie TaOI, were 126,640 rounds 125mm, 7,745 rounds 155mm, and 1,597 rounds of 8".

8. (C) Intelligence: The borderlands of the Oriental River from Tay Ninh City to Ben Luc in Long An Province are the operation areas of the 259th and 267th Battalions in the Northern sector and the 506th and the 2d Long An Independent Battalion to the South. All four had been intermittently reported throughout their respective areas and were considered combat effective although relatively inactive in aggressive tactics. Movement had consisted mostly of company and platoon size units for logistical purposes and small scale harassment. Although at times, reported near the Oriental River, Guerrillas and local force platoons and companies had operated throughout Trang Bang District and the paddyland around Duc Hoa and Duc Hoa and Dao Trai (Khien Cuong). The C2 Duc Hoa Company, C54 Company, and local Guerrillas of theTho Mo (1) & (2) area were most active. The Cu Chi LF Battalion, had been freq-
I

A large number of local Guerrillas and infrastructure. A late operation in the Iron Triangle revealed great caches of supplies, tunnel complexes, and personnel. Contact was made with Base Camp and the 297th Battalion on several occasions along the river near Loc Giang. They were found to be combat effective and well equipped with SA, AV, recoiless rifles, and mortars. Squads and platoons of the 2d Long An Independent Bn and 506th Bn were often found in the bunkered areas of the pineapple plantation and Horseshoe curve of the Oriental River South of Duc Hiea. As was the case throughout that area dispersion and well - camouflaged bunkers was the prevalent tactic to avoid daylight detection. Equipment in that area consisted mostly of SA, AV's, grenades etc. Both battalions were evaluated as relatively ineffective. Twenty four Ho Chi Minh rockets in that vicinity. Dooby trapping and mining activity was heavy throughout the TAOL, the favorite type being a trip wire concealed in brushy spots about 6 above ground level. Route #1 from Tay Ninh City to Co Chi was the favorite target area of small unit harassment as an effort to impede the HD program. The DNA, DIO, and 2d LF Go Mon Battalions gained the interest of the Fire Brigade. The latter was contacted along the Saigon River just below Phu Cuong. There an approximate Company size unit of the Go Mon suffered 23 KIA although well equipped with AV and recoiless weapons. Local units were contacted in Go Dau Ha District resulting in complete uninhabititation of a 20 man platoon on one occasion. General intelligence of the TAOL indicated the VC were pressured to disperse into cells of 2-4 men occupying a 1-2 kilometer area, for mixing with local civilians, and reuniting only for major or small scale operations. KOEKOLOW was conducted throughout the rainy season which inundated most of the terrain hindering the maneuverability of friendly units. Tidal streams and canals, dense hedges, and enemy mines and Dooby Traps were obstacles found throughout the TAOL. Afternoon Monsoon rains occurred daily; and observation was often poor due to fog in morning hours. In general, civilians were most responsive to combat operations directly supporting a particular HD project which they understood and would often volunteer helpful infornation. Available intelligence steadily improved during the operation but expansion is needed at small unit level along with a greater assist from indigenous personnel which is now starting to develop at Company level.

9. (C) Mission

2d Fde with campaign emphasis placed on offensive operations in response to intelligence and maintenance of constant pressure against VC/NV. forces, conducted search and destroy operations in T.O.I to destroy VC/NV. forces and installations, provided security for Engineer activities supported GVN/OD program, conducted operations along the Oriental River to deny use as VC/NV. LOC and reinforced .AVN, Regional, Popular and CLIC forces as required throughout the T.O.I.

12. (C) Supply and Civil Affairs

a. Supply

(1) Operations started with the bulk of resupply of maneuver battalions provided by UH-ID helicopters or overland by convoy. Overland resupply was utilized to the maximum extent possible, however, the bulk of resupply was carried by UH-ID helicopters. This use severely overtaxed UH-ID support capability for CA and other combat operations.

(2) In an effort to solve this problem and increase the efficiency of resupply operations, resupply by CH-47 helicopter was initiated on a large scale in mid-July. UH-ID aircraft were re relegated to TACE and occasional night resupply missions; increasing their availability for direct support combat operations. Maximum use of overland resupply continued when terrain, unit dispositions, and the tactical situation permitted.

(3) The CH-47 has proven to be the most efficient and effective vehicle available for providing logistical support to forward units. Its inherent ability to respond quickly to changing tactical situations, rapid delivery speed, and relatively greater allowable ACL, have made it an invaluable asset in situations prohibiting the use of overland resupply techniques.
(4) During OPERATION KOLOKOLO, a total of 13,245 tons of supplies have been provided to maneuver battalions in the field. Of this total 1,375 tons were delivered by overland convoy, 2,229 delivered by UH-1D and 9,348 tons delivered by CH-47 (this tonnage does not include artillery class V). Class of supply breakdown, by tonnage is as follows:

(a) Class I, I: 3,540 tons.
(b) Class I II: 3,304 tons.
(c) Class I III: 1,209 tons.
(d) Class I V: 6,372 tons.

(5) Recommendation: That the CH-47 helicopter be used for resupply operations in the future in cases where overland resupply cannot be accomplished and the tactical situation does not require the use of UH-1D helicopters.

b. Civil Affairs/PSYOPS accomplishments

(1) Civil Affairs:

(a) MEDCAP: A total of 258 MEDCAPS (Medical Civic Action Program) were conducted throughout the Brigade TAOI. A total of 41,500 patients were treated.

(b) Distribution of commodities: In support of CA operations, the following list of commodities were distributed by 2D Bde 5-5, 1/27, 2/27, 1/3 and the CA platoon:

c. Completion of Projects: In accordance with paragraph 2 Annex F OFPAN 6-67, the following is a summation of Civic Action Projects completed during this period.

(1) A barrier system consisting of concertina wire, steel stakes and sandbags was constructed at 50 DO, with the technical assistance of the brigade. Its completion added greatly to the local security and the peoples' confidence in the GVN ability to protect them.

(2) The maternity ward at HOC 2-CN was painted with paint supplied and assistance rendered by elements of the 2d Brigade. The result was an improvement in the appearance and sanitary condition of the facility.

(3) The marketplace at THO MO was supplied with materials and advice for painting and renovation. Labor was performed by local Vietnamese Nationals. Upon completion, the marketplace received an increase in volume.

(4) Elements of the brigade supplied sand (not listed as a commodity) for the school playground at HOC MON. The drainage and sanitary conditions were improved as a result. In addition to the above, 12 classrooms were painted with US materials and advice but Vietnamese labor.

(5) In support of Vietnamese dependents, the sewing room in the HOC MON dependent area was painted with US paint and technical assistance.

(6) The brigade provided the necessary lumber and advice to construct a number of school desks located at 49th ARVN Rear.

(7) The entrance gate to BAO TRAI was completely rebuilt with US materials and technical assistance. This project provides an impressive first view of the province capital when entering from the Cu Chi road.

(8) The Chieu Hoi Center at BAO TRAI was supplied with large quantities of barrier material and technical assistance to construct revetted bunkers.
(9) Under the direction, and with the assistance of 2d Bde and CA personnel, two complete buildings have been constructed at the BAO TRAI hospital. In addition to the construction of buildings this hospital has received continual support and assistance as necessary.

(10) The brigade was responsible for initiating the construction of the BAO TRAI High School which was officially dedicated on 16 December 1967. In addition to supplying laterite for the leveling and filling of the school site, building materials and technical assistance was provided during the course of construction.

2. RF, PF, and CIDG Support:

   a. In support of RF, PF and CIDG Outpost the following materials have been distributed to district advisors (US) for further distribution to the outposts.

In addition to the above materials, technical assistance and advice had been supplied by 2d Bde S-5 in TRANG BANG and NAM HOA Districts.

3. PSYOPS:

a. During this period the PSYOPS Team supported MEDCAPS by showing films such as, How Disease Travels, Lybian American Reader.

b. There were 141 leaflet missions flown dropping a total of 9,037,000 leaflets. Several of these were on a quick reaction basis in support of tactical operations.

c. In conjunction with the above, 55 loudspeaker missions were flown totaling 94 hours of tape time.

d. In addition to leaflets disseminated by air, MEDCAPS were utilized to hand disseminate such magazines as Young Quoc.

13. Special Equipment & Techniques:

During the period, the Brigade as a part of the effort to expand and improve operations with ARVN FF/RF and CIDG a combined (ARVN/US) Intelligence Center and a combined operations coordination Center (ARVN/US) was established at DUC HOA. There was continued effort to conduct combined operations and work closely with National Police and local intelligence sources. The Combined Reconnaissance Intelligence Platoon (CRIP) consisting of personnel from the Reconnaissance Platoon of 2/27 Inf and Intelligence Platoon of HAU NGHIA Province was activated in July to improve the joint intelligence collection capability. Squads from both units were integrated for operations and have been highly successful obtaining detainees, body count and collection of information. The CRIP is under the combined operational control of the Brigade S-2 and the Province S-2. On 18 August CRIP while on a reconnaissance mission three kilometers from DAO THAI made contact with a VC reconnaissance element from LONG AN Province resulting in 27 VC KIA (DC) and 1 US WIA. CRIP is also capable of conducting reconnaissance in force and combat raids.
During KOLEKOLE emphasis was placed on improving search techniques. Bamboo, and sharp instruments were used for detecting caches. Employment of mine detectors, using flame throwers and demolitions for clearing dense vegetation concealing entrances to tunnel systems were also employed. Instruction in search techniques was provided brigade troops by experienced unit personnel and by Vietnamese.

A device called "KILLER-EYES" was introduced within the Brigade. This device consisted of a 20' length of 1/2" or 1/4" rope with a shipping plug from artillery ammunition affixed to the end of the rope. The lead element of dismounted infantry carried the device and used it to clear jungle paths or hedge rows of booby traps or trip wires. The device was thrown out ahead of advancing infantry into headgrows. The thrower assumed the prone position and the rope was pulled in. This device proved highly effective and lessened the casualties caused by booby traps.

a. AN/PRC-74 Radio Tests and Utilization

(1) Discussion: During the month of August 1967, two AN/PRC-74 man pack radios were drawn from DISCOM and tested to determine if these radios were adequate for use as an alternate means of communications between brigade and battalions in the field. Test results were favorable, and additional radios were drawn and issued to each battalion. Due to the non-availability of authorized power sources, several substitutes were used:

(a) Two FNC-25 batteries were tried but proved to be unsatisfactory due to their size and short battery life.

(b) Jeep batteries were tried, and they too proved too bulky although their battery life was adequate.

(c) During the Song Be operation sufficient quantity of authorized wet cell batteries were acquired from a Special Forces Team and issued to the Battalions. Operations since that time have been satisfactory.
(2) Recommendation - That use of the PRC-74 radio be continued as a back-up for the Brigade Command Net FM since the vehicular mounted AM radios provided for this purpose are not compatible with present concepts of operation.

b. FM Automatic Retransmission

(1) Discussion - A second FM retransmission station was built from the Signal Officer's radio and equipment. On several occasions, because of extended distances, it was necessary to use both the TCE and the built retrans facilities to insure reliable communications between brigade and the battalions. This arrangement, which allowed automatic passage of traffic through two intermediate stations before reaching the distant end, reduced message transmission time by two-thirds. Without these stations messages would have had to be passed from the originator through two voice relay stations to the recipient. Elimination of the need for operator relay not only reduced transmission time, but reduced the possibility of human error or misunderstanding.

(2) Recommendation - That the capability for two automatic retransmission stations be retained at Brigade.

c. Voice Security Equipment, KY-6

(1) Discussion - During the Song Be Operation, the need arose for operation of the KY-6 from a ½ ton vehicle due to vehicle size limitations imposed by aircraft movement. Prior to this time, the KY-6 had been operated from the 8½--track with good results. The generator of the ½ ton was inadequate to fill the power requirements of this equipment, and as a temporary measure, power was provided by a 3 KW skid mounted generator. Upon return to Cu Chi, the KY-6 and radio were removed from the original ½ ton and installed on a ½ ton that was equipped with a 100 amp generator that was intended for use with radio-teleprint equipment. This arrangement has proved satisfactory.

(2) Recommendation - That all jeeps, authorized TOE to carry the KY-6, have the normal generator and replaced by a 100 amp generator, and that the present configuration in the 2d Brigade be retained.
